FBI Probing Into Steel Price Boost On Truman Order

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24 (AP)—On White House instructions, Attorney General Clark today sent FBI agents to 16 lead steel companies to inquire into last week's advance in steel prices.

Clark said that "simultaneous questioning of executives of leading steel companies by the FBI" began this morning and is continuing.

He added in a statement:

"The purpose of the investigation is to determine whether the recent increase in steel prices is the result of any agreement among the steel producers in violation of the anti-trust laws."

Mr. Truman, cruising in the Caribbean on the presidential yacht Williamsburg, radioed instructions to the justice department, the commerce department and his council of economic advisers to look into the $5 a ton price increase announced last week.

General Boost Feared

Some of his aides have said they fear it may touch off a general price rise.

In congress, there were demands *for an investigation and for a re*turn to wartime excess profits taxes.

Clark said he was acting "at the President's request" and that the justice department's anti-trust division will prosecute "a nation-wide inquiry" into the steel price situation.

Council Holds Sessions

Edwin G. Nourse, chairman of the President's economic council, has announced a series of closed meetings will be held this week with steelmen.

Steel manufacturers have also been asked to appear for a hearing before the joint congressional economic committee on March 2.

In a house speech, Representative Poulson, R., Calif., proposed "a full-scale investigation and expose."

He told his colleagues:

"No Mere Coincidence"

"It does not seem that this is a mere coincidence that the various steel companies should decide to raise their prices at the same time and in the same amount.

"Congress and the administration should act at once."

[illegible] believed Taylor [illegible] his claim he [illegible] support of the Idaho [illegible] vote with him.

'Some Action' On Taylor Is Seen at Meet

BOISE, Feb. 24 (AP)—"Some expression" of the Democratic party's stand concerning Sen. Glen H. Taylor's joining forces with Henry A. Wallace's third party was expected to come out of the state central committee meeting here Thursday.

Democratic State Chairman Dan J. Cavanagh of Twin Falls said the state central committee probably would take some action when it meets in Boise prior to the annual Jefferson-Jackson day banquet.

Meanwhile, party leaders predicted that Taylor's decision to campaign as Wallace's vice presidential candidate would have little effect on Idaho politics this year.

Some party leaders also felt Taylor's action would kill any chances he had of being reelected in 1950.

[illegible] luck—all of [illegible]

Bothne Ready To Start His Europe Jaunt

O. J. Bothne, Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce secretary, is scheduled to leave on the first leg of his month's trip by Sunday Wednesday. He and representatives from Montana, Oregon and Washington will supervise distribution of "Christmas ship" food.

Envoy for the whole state of Idaho, Bothne will fly from Pocatello to Billings, Mont., where he will meet the representatives from the other three northwestern states for the trip to New York. Plans call for their departure by plane Saturday for Frankfurt, Germany.

Meeting Set

In New York, Bothne said, the delegates will convene with members of church organizations already engaged in the distribution of food from the "friendship train."

It was on the suggestion of these groups, he explained, that the present trip was organized. Their presence at the distribution of the food throughout the American zones of Germany and Austria is to give those people somebody to thank personally and to give the people here an "eyewitness" to the method used in dividing the food.

Makes Statement

In a statement Tuesday, Bothne said he "approached the mission with a feeling of humility and pride, both as representative of the people of Idaho and with the full responsibility that representation entails."

"It is with sincere hope that I will bring commendation to the people of Magic Valley and Idaho on this trip and be able to give a full verbal picture of my experiences upon my return April 1," he added.

Free Rides

Transportation from Billings, Mont., is being donated by the Northwest Airlines, Inc., to New York and from New York to Frankfurt, Germany, by the Overseas Airlines, Inc.

Although a full itinerary of the mission has not been disclosed, it is expected that the delegates will go to Bremen, Germany, late next week to be present at the unloading of the Christmas ship, the Gretna Victory.

From there they will travel to ration centers where the food is broken down into small "family" lots in preparation for distribution. Then they will follow the course of individual food packets to the eventual consumer.

NORWAY SETTLES

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24 (AP) — Norway settled its $47,000,522 wartime lend-lease account with the United States today. In settlement, that nation promised to pay $5,000,000 in Norwegian real estate and currency.

Speaker Asks "World Rule" To Aid Peace

The formation of a world government for the sole purpose of preventing war and aggression—was urged by A. J. O. Priest, noted New York attorney, Monday night in the Twin Falls high school auditorium.

In the face of total destruction by the atom bomb, Priest told a group of 250 attending the Kiwanis-sponsored event, that national governments, including the United States, are no longer able to protect the sovereign rights of the individual.

Peace and "survival" of the world, the native Idahoan declared, depend upon the promotion of a world government today that will secure these rights for the individuals of all nations.

Raps Attitude

The greatest single barrier to the construction of such a law administering body, he said, is the "defeatist" attitude of all people in the world today that believe another world war is inevitable.

"National boundaries and racial differences have been and still are being overcome by men of the arts—writers, musicians, painters and sculptors, and by religions," he continued. "There is no reason why a concept of world law and government designed to preclude all future wars, could not do the same thing."

A-Bomb Threat

The prospect of another war is far from inviting when atom bombs 1,000 times stronger than that used on Hiroshima have already been

Another Price War Seen Here As One Taxi Firm Cuts Fares

Another price war in Twin Falls taxi rates loomed here Tuesday with the announcement by the Twin Falls Cab company that the firm had cut prices to stop "a threatened monopoly" in the local transportation business.

Robert Clark, owner of the Twin Falls Cab company, explained he cut his prices because of public demand. Rates have been slashed from 35 to 25 cents on all fares within the original townsite and South Park.

Clark pointed out that there is no reason why a fare of 35 cents must be paid for rides within the city. He said his cut was in line with similar reductions in rates by cab companies on the entire west coast.

Prices of the Yellow cab Checker cab and Deluxe cab companies have remained the same.

Clark charged the other cab interests with a lack of cooperation. He said he had approached the owners of the other cab companies in an attempt to get prices down in relation to the national trend.

"The other cab companies laughed at me and told me that I didn't have the guts to cut my prices," Clark said.

"Our prices will remain at the new rates and I know we can make a living without charging big city prices for Twin Falls. After all, Twin Falls is really small in area," he added.

The Twin Falls cab company started a price war in taxi rates about a year ago with a similar announcement.

Bombing Turns Thousands Into Streets

Bewildered Jews pour into streets minutes after explosion—which many at first believed to be an earthquake—shook the Jewish section of Jerusalem. Crowds of Jews milled around the area asking for friends and relatives, although Haganah army guards surrounded the section. Force of the blast smashed thousands of windows and ripped roofs off many shops and houses. (NEA radio-telephoto)

'Blueprints for War' Wallace Terms ERP

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24 (U.P.)—Henry A. Wallace today denounced the administration's Europe[illegible]y program as a "blueprint for war." He said[illegible]n western Europe to Wall street control.

The third party presidential candidate offered as a substitute a $50,000,000,000, 10-year "new deal" rehabilitation program to be run by the United Nations. His plan, Wallace said, was a "plan for peace."

The former vice president told the house foreign affairs committee that ERP was a "colossal hoax—on the American people."

"While its being sold to the American people as a peaceful plan for cooperation and recovery," he said in a 10,000-word prepared statement, "it will use the tax dollars of the American people for the benefit of private capitalists at home and abroad. It is a plan cloaked in decent language which is designed to suppress the Democratic movements in Europe."

The third party leader was just another witness as far as the committee was concerned. Despite cries of "censorship" from Wallace's campaign manager, the committee stuck by a decision which barred broadcasters and newsreel photographers from the hearing room.

In his statement, Wallace said ERP would not ease hunger in Europe but perpetuate it.

"ERP will not promote recovery but indefinitely postpone it," he continued.

"ERP would open western Europe to the control of Wall street. It sidesteps and will destroy the United Nations. It would increase, not diminish international friction."

Wallace offered as a "realistic and

Food Price Drop Said Leveling Off

CHICAGO, Feb. 24 (U.P.)—The food price decline showed signs of levelling off today.

A spot check of grocery stores across the nation showed that prices of several basic foods stayed the same last week. Others dropped only slightly.

Many grocers said the end of the price break seemed to be near. The price drop last week was much less marked than it was the week before, they said.

Hoover Urges Federation of Europe Areas

NEW YORK, Feb. 24 (U.P.)—Former President Herbert Hoover last night urged a regional federation of Europe under the United Nations to strengthen the Marshall plan nations in peace and war.

Hoover, in a speech to the Sons of the Revolution at a Washington's birthday banquet at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel, asserted that such a federation was needed because at present "we have no certainty of military allies in the world."

Would Avoid Alliances

He said that the federation plan "would avoid the United States being involved in military alliances."

"Today we are not only compelled to remain armed on what amounts to a gigantic war-footing," said Hoover, "but we must realize that in case some one would make war upon us we have no certainty of military allies in the world.

'Bare, Stark Fact'

"At the moment Britain and western Europe might remain neutral. This is not an accusation as to their good faith or their gratitude for our having spent so much American treasure and blood in their liberation from Hitler. It is the bare, stark fact of divided and weakened European nations in the face of red armies of 2,500,000 men along the iron curtain."

Hoover said that unless western Europe adopts some form of economic and political unity, the Marshall plan will fall short of its goal.

Dog Held for 10 Days After Girl, 11, Bitten Here

Instead, the animal is being held 10 days for observation after being picked up by Dog Catcher Bill Dye. The dog belongs to Mr. and Mrs. Wallace B. Clark, 550 Second avenue north. Following the end of the 10-day period of observation, Mrs. Clark declared the dog will be tied up or taken out of town."

Elsie Parkin, 423 Sixth street north, is alleged to have been bitten by the dog at 5:15 p.m. Monday. Elsie, 11, was riding a bicycle when the dog grabbed her by the ankle, but the bite did not draw blood, according to Mrs. Clark.

Mrs. Parkin said Elsie was not hurt, but said she believed the matter should be reported because the dog might be more dangerous "next time." Mrs. Clark agreed. She said she would hate to think of any dog bothering her daughter.

Jews Believe Britons Made Sunday Blast

* * * *

JERUSALEM, Feb. 24 (AP)—A Jewish agency spokesman declared today Jews are convinced Sunday's bombing of Jerusalem's Jewish business district, in which 52 persons died, was engineered by Britons.

"There is no doubt in our minds that the Ben Yehuda (street) bombing was perpetrated by British personnel," the spokesman told a news conference. "It is the sequence of such attacks to make it impossible to determine the identity of the attackers, but we are continuing our investigation in the belief they were British."

Arab sources said immediately after the bombing that Arab commanders wearing British uniforms led the blast.

Jews seemed inclined to ignore the Arab statement, however, and at least six British soldiers were wounded in apparent reprisal actions yesterday. The Palestine police have denied the British were involved in the explosion.

Three-inch mortar shells, which police said were fired by Jews, fell in the Palestine police compound today.

The unofficial death toll for the communal warfare since the Nov. 29 U.N. decision to partition the holy land now stands at 1,279.

U. S. Is Willing on Palestine 'Police'

LAKE SUCCESS, Feb. 24 (AP)—The United States today declared its readiness to consult on creation of an international military force for Palestine if the United Nations security council voted for such a force.

The United States specified that any U. N. force must be "directed to keeping the peace and not to enforcing partition" of the holy land.

The U. S. position on the vital Palestine problem was laid before the security council by chief American Delegate Warren R. Austin.

"If the security council should decide that it is necessary to use armed force in maintaining international peace in connection with Palestine," Austin said.

Communists Seize Complete Controls Of Czechoslovakia

PRAGUE, Feb. 24 (U.P.)—The communists seized control of Czechoslovakia today, nine years less three weeks after the nazis overran the central European republic born of the first World war.

A decree of the communist interior minister converted Czechoslovakia into a police state in fact and in name. The ministry clamped on the entire nation the iron hand of the police force it commands.

Communist Minister Vaclav Nosek, striking suddenly after a whirlwind day of consolidating the communist bid for absolute power, stripped all local government organs of their authority.

He turned the authority over to communist "action committees." The former administrators were ordered in a national broadcast to report to the action committees for orders.

Opposition leaders charged that Gottwald has discarded all pretense of legality of his seizure of power, and would ride roughshod over Benes if necessary.

Informants said Gottwald's cabinet *to replace the coalition he head*ed gave all the top posts to communists, with some minor portfolios earmarked for left wing Social Democrats and dissidents from the National Socialist and Peoples parties.

"Up to this morning we still had hopes," an opposition leader said. "Now the communists have discarded their pretensions of legality and constitutional methods.

"Their raids now are carried out without search warrants. They have received orders to go ahead and not allow even President Benes to stand in their way."

The raids on oppositionist organs were being stepped up as the apparent hour of decision neared.

Armed soldiers and policemen seized the Social Democrat party headquarters. The party files were ransacked. The same thing happened at National Socialist headquarters yesterday, and shortly thereafter the party was accused by the interior ministry of plotting an armed uprising.

Judge Porter Urged For Top Court Post

District Judge James W. Porter was non-committal "although pleased" Tuesday upon being informed that the 11th Judicial District Bar association urged him to announce his candidacy for the supreme court bench.

Judge Porter was asked for a statement in Burley where he is conducting a term of court.

"It is very pleasing to be endorsed for justice of the supreme court by the members of the bar among whom I have lived and worked for many years. At this time I can add nothing further."

Judge Porter was urged Monday night to announce his candidacy for the office of justice of the supreme court of Idaho. The request came from the 11th Judicial District Bar association.

In the event Judge Porter should make such an announcement the association resolved to pledge him wholehearted support.

The association pointed out that Justice Alfred Budge is ineligible to seek reelection, and that Judge Porter has made an enviable record for the past 11 years and is "eminently qualified" to serve.

The resolution also noted that south central Idaho has had no representation on the supreme bench for more than 15 years.

Justice Budge was observing his 80th birthday anniversary in Boise today. He is [illegible]tire from [illegible] urged [illegible] as been [illegible] for the past [illegible] years.

Sweeley Says Liquor Count Action Nears

Prosecuting Attorney Everett M. Sweeley said Tuesday he has received approval from the state attorney-general's office to file complaint on a liquor charge against Irving Steinberg, owner of the Klover Klub, 227 Second avenue south.

He added that Attorney-General Robert Smylie wrote he was willing to carry the case to the supreme court, if necessary.

Sweeley said, however, he will not file the complaint until he has received from the attorney general an opinion written by Judge Charles F. Koelsch, Boise. Upon that opinion Sweeley said he will base the complaint which may wind up as a "test case."

Smylie wrote that Judge Koelsch has ruled that the 1947 liquor law applies to dry communities, according to Sweeley.

Steinberg was arrested by state undercover agents about midnight, Feb. 5. Although he was released on bond, no formal complaint has been filed against him.

After Steinberg was arrested, Sweeley sought clarification from state liquor control officials and the attorney-general's office. He pointed out that a recent ruling by Judge James W. Porter might force the issue to the supreme court.

In January Judge Porter ruled the 1947 liquor law did not apply to communities which had voted under local option to stay dry.

BLAST LEVELS BUILDINGS

POCAHONTAS, Ark., Feb. 24 (AP) —A terrific explosion levelled three business buildings and damaged another today leaving one man missing and feared dead. Two persons were injured.

Damp—Maybe

There may be rain or snow in Magic Valley before Sunday, according to the five-day forecast of weather received here Tuesday via the Associated Press.

Here is the complete forecast:

"Temperature average slightly below normal, colder latter part of period. Moderate precipitation occasionally with rain or snow at beginning and toward end of period."

Lighting for Airport Hits Funds 'Snag'

With Acting Mayor H. R. Grant at the helm, Twin Falls city commissioners spent exactly 25 minutes Monday in a meeting featured by the absence of any persons for public hearing.

A contract for lighting the airport cannot be let until a larger grant is allowed by the government, Grant announced. This is a formality, is was pointed out.

Estimates drawn by Twin Falls officials were about $1,000 less than the low bid submitted for the job. Revised estimates will have to have government approval before the low bid can be let.

Fred Taplin, airport manager, said that bids submitted by Shotwell's Utility Service company, Twin Falls, and the Hasbert Electrical company, Boise, were out of order in that they specified their own provisions in one section.

That was in violation of the contract terms, Taplin said. Therefore, he added, the only two bids on record are the $15,000 bid of the City Electric company, Boise, and the $10,257.48 bid of Detweiler's, Twin Falls.

Shotwell had bid $16,149.72, the

Former Policeman Pete Rountree Uses Screwdriver, Headlock to Nab Fugitive

Using a screwdriver as a gun, an ex-Twin Falls policeman Tuesday noon caught a driver with a broken arm and recovered a stolen car after police had chased the vehicle up and down city streets and alleys and across lawns for more than 10 minutes.

When Pete Rountree, who now works as a carpenter, saw what was going on, the smell of the chase was too much for him. Like a retired fire horse, he joined the mad dash.

At Shoshone street and truck lane he was able to cut off the stolen vehicle and the driver, who later identified himself as Marion White, 19, leaped from the car to make a run for it. But he reckoned without Roundtree, who had leaped from his car.

The ex-policeman tackled the fugitive and, with a screwdriver jammed in White's back, held White until policemen arrived.

"I don't know," he said, "if it was the screwdriver or the headlock I had on him that held him but he stayed there until the police arrived."

According to police, the 1947 green sedan White was driving was reported stolen in Rigby. The vehicle was spotted near Five Points east by police who swung around to give chase.

White apparently saw what had happened because he stepped on it." He turned north on Blue Lakes boulevard to Third avenue and then to Fourth street. He then went along Fourth avenue east to Third street where he cut through an alley to Second street and up Fifth avenue.

Along Fourth street the police car almost caught up with White, who, upon seeing his plight, began a sharp swing in the street. The two vehicles almost crashed. White then cut across lawns and headed back toward the truck lane.

At the police station, White asked for a doctor as the broken arm was giving him considerable pain. On his person police found $44.51 and a wallet full of checks.

Police Chief Howard W. Gillette said White may be a man who is reported to have escaped from Jefferson county authorities at Idaho Falls Monday evening. According to the description of the escapee, Gillette said, he had a dark complexion and a broken left arm. He added that that description fits White.

Local police expect to return White to Idaho Falls for questioning. In the glove compartment of the automobile he was driving police found an insurance policy made out to Sterling A. Murdock, Driggs.

Panel Passes $737,574,151 For Spending

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24 (AP) — Spending bills totalling $737,574,151 were recommended by the appropriations committee today in two separate bills sent to the house floor.

The army was allotted $609,538,766, almost all of it for river and harbor and flood control projects under the army engineering corps.

Of the balance, $83,813,943 was earmarked for grants to states for vocational education, hospital construction and aid to dependent children, blind persons and the aged under federal security agency programs.

The combined total of both bills was $131,274,405 below budget estimates submitted for the present.

The federal security agency funds, as well as other miscellaneous allotments in an omnibus deficiency bill, are for use during the remaining months of the present fiscal year ending June 30.

The army funds, for use during the new fiscal year starting July 1, are $131,542,880, or about 18 per cent, less than President Truman had asked.

Nearly $8,000,000 also was proposed for work on 30 national cemeteries in this country and for new burial grounds for World War II dead in Italy and Puerto Rico.

Debate on the bill will start in the house tomorrow.

For the development of the 30 national cemeteries already in existence in the country, the committee recommended the full budget request of $6,269,153. This includes $2,397,820 to buy tombstones.

For river and harbor work the committee recommended $152,331,300, a cut of $41,885,700 from the President's budget. For general flood control work it knocked off $85,406,000 from budget requests totaling $386,044,000.

Other recommended allotments included the full $2,435,000 asked for the U. S. soldiers' home here and $19,476,313 of the $23,436,300 sought for maintenance and general operation of the Panama canal.

Three Victims of Explosion Regain Use of Hurt Eyes

BURLEY, Feb. 24—Lois Grindrod and his son, Kenneth Gridrod, and Paul Chesley, who were burned about the face and eyes about 10 days ago in a gasoline explosion, have recovered their sight.

The three persons were discharged from the Cottage hospital Friday. They received the burns while drilling a well near Fairfield.

Roy Lee Grindrod, 8, is credited with saving the sight of the three well-drillers by driving their automobile from the site of the well after they had been blinded. The boy, who never before had driven a car, sat on his father's knee and steered the vehicle while Grindrod operated the foot pedals, and the gear shift.

"Civil Rights" War Goes on Despite Pleas

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24 (AP) — The civil rights war within Democratic ranks raged unabated today, fired by a new attack of southern governors on the party's high command.

Four Dixie governors, fresh from a meeting with National Chairman J. Howard McGrath, promised to use "whatever means are necessary" to block President Truman's race equality program.

Statement Issued

As a clear indication of what they have in mind, the four declared in a formal statement:

"The southern states are aroused and the present leadership of the Democratic party will soon realize that the south is no longer 'in the bag.' "

Despite his blast, McGrath appeared to feel that he had made some headway against the southland revolt.

"Good Understanding"

He told a news conference he gained the impression the meeting "resulted in good understanding." He added that he hopes it will "lessen the split in the party."

During the get-together, McGrath said he, for one, appreciates the south's loyalty to the party.

But McGrath said flatly he will not try to have the President's civil right program withdrawn from congress as the governors demanded.

Won't Change Rule

Nor will he agree to return to the two-thirds convention rule under which the south once held a veto over presidential candidates.

McGrath did, however, adopt a more conciliatory attitude on some points during the hour and a half he spent behind closed doors with the governors.

The national chairman said, for instance, that it is the farthest thing from the President's mind to set up an FBI police force to go poking around into southern race segregation.

Focal Point of Objections

That has been a focal point of southern objections to Mr. Truman's plea for passage of anti-poll tax, anti-lynching, anti-job discriminating and anti-Jim Crow laws.

The President said he has ordered a civil rights division set up in the justice department. Agents are being given special training, he told congress.

Senator Russell, D., Ga., has called this an attempt to create a "gestapo" to force white and Negroes into the same schools, churches and amusement places.

Not so, said McGrath. He insisted the President had in mind stopping "hoodlumism" in industrial disputes.

Youths to Attend Sunday Sessions For MYF Groups

High school students of Magic Valley will travel to Rupert Sunday for the sub-district rally of the Methodist Senior Youth fellowship.

Chartered buses will carry large groups from Castleford, Buhl, Filer, Kimberly, Hansen, Murtaugh and Twin Falls. Registration will be at 2 p.m., and the program begins at 2:30 p.m. with a song service in charge of the Twin Falls group with Joyce Fisher and Bill Porter leading the singing.

Reports on the Cleveland convention will be given by Bob Stansbury, Elois Arden Rosebery and Joyce Fisher, Twin Falls; Bob Smith, Rupert, and Warren LaRue and Dorothy Reed, Burley.

The Rev. Don Smith of Burley will speak at 4 p.m. after which special study groups will be held. Dinner at 6:30 p.m. will be served by the Rupert Methodist church, followed by the business meeting, worship service and a moving picture.

To date 26 high school boys and girls of Twin Falls have signed up for the trip.

Man Bound Over On Forgery Count

Hugh Calkins, 40, Janesville, Wis., was bound over to district court Tuesday by Justice of the Peace James O. Pumphrey after waiving a preliminary hearing on charges of forgery.

He was charged in connection with a $25 check passed at the Marketeria, 320 Shoshone street north, according to a sheriff's deputy.

A description of a car used in the check passing resulted in the apprehension at 9:10 a. m. Sunday of Neil V. Kinney as he was driving into Twin Falls, the deputy authorities of the whereabouts of Calkins, whom he said had borrowed the car, the deputy said. Calkins was arrested in Jerome.

Kinney is being held by the sheriff for questioning.

perfected, he said.—For this reason alone people should drop their "defeatist" attitude and lend their thoughts jo a constructive means to evade this eventuality.

The attempt to form a world government is the constructive idea his organization, United World Federalists, Inc., is promoting as a solution to the problem, Priest said.

Right Direction

Declaring that the United Nations was a "step in the right direction" but lacking in strength to carry out a positive enforcement of laws that will stop war, the speaker urged a six-point program drawn up by the UWF to supplement United Nations powers already in force.

All countries should be disarmed, individuals fostering or trying to bring about aggression should be hung before they accomplish their end; the world body should have its own and the only military force in the world; be independently financed, no nation would be able to secede from the organization and provisions should be made for the amendment of the body's constitution, he said.

Anti-War Group

The world organization would be instituted solely for the purpose of stopping war and would have no say in the operation of domestic governments, he stressed.

Priest will speak in Boise Tuesday night under the sponsorship of the Boise Kiwanis club which joined with Twin Falls Kiwanis club in bringing him to Idaho. He was introduced by the Rev. R. C. Muhly, pastor of the Immanuel Lutheran church and Kiwanis president.

Last Rites Held For Burley Man

BURLEY, Feb. 24—Funeral services for Lafayette Carnahan were held at 1 p.m. Saturday at the Malat LDS church with Bishop J. Henry Thompson officiating.

Mrs. Barbara Udy played the prelude and postlude and Rawlins Harper gave the invocation. Speakers were Bishop Thompson, Harvey White, Melvin Ward and Jesse Pierce. A trio, composed of Carolyn Thompson, Dorothy Thompson and Ramona Shaw, sang two numbers, and Mrs. Barbara Udy sang a solo. E. S. Miller gave the benediction, and burial was made in the Albion cemetery with George W. Neddo dedicating the grave.

Pallbearers were Bert Cottle, James Hitt, Blaine Wight, John Powers, Oren Kelsey and Glen Parke. Flowers, under direction of the Malta Grange, were carried by Mrs. C. L. Sears, Mrs. Clifford Beecher, Mrs. James Hitt, Mrs. Elmer Wickel, Mrs. Bert Hutchinson, Mrs. B. Kelsey and Mrs. Melvin Wickel.

complete alternative to ERP" a program which called for:

1. Creation of a U.N. reconstruction fund modelled after UNRRA to restore the economies of war-devastated nations.

2. Financing the fund by contributions appropriated by the U. S. congress and by other nations "that have the appropriate means for this purpose." He said $20,000,000,000 "should be sufficient to finance a 10-year world plan." (The cost of ERP over a 4½ year period is estimated at about $17,000,000,000.

3. Placing by the U.N. agency in allocating funds to those nations which suffered most severely "from the aggression of the fascist axis." None of the funds should be used for anything of a military nature.

4. A U.N. world food granary plan under which American farmers and all other surplus food-producing nations would be encouraged to produce to the limit with a guaranteed price floor.

That program, Wallace said, would be less costly to the American taxpayer in the long run because it would be the "peace treaty to end the cold war."

Czech Moves Are Seen as 'Last Attempt'

By J. M. ROBERTS, Jr.
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The current complicated political moves in Czechoslovakia represent what may be the last efforts of that country to escape becoming a one-party police state like the other Russian satellites.

The Czechs have held out longer than the others because they escaped military occupation. But President Benes is in poor health, the communists are consolidating their police control, and the country's last chance would seem to lie in a popular uprising for which the anti-communists seem unprepared.

The first major blows came last fall when Czech foreign trade was disrupted by Russian demands in order to hurt the Marshall plan.

More recently the communists have been trying to make the police a strictly party force, and to swamp all opposition in the coalition government by bringing in controlled representatives of labor unions.

Tried to Force Election

The opposition parties foresaw that this would mean complete communist control of the election machinery. They have been been trying to force an election before that happens. The combined opposition is now in the majority, but the communists are the largest single party, with 114 of the 300 seats in parliament. President Benes has fought manfully to hold them to proportionate representation in the government.

The communists themselves have, until now, adhered to the letter if not the spirit of the law. But the opposition recently traced a bomb plot to communist sources. One of the intended victims was Jan Masaryk, foreign minister, Benes' right-hand man and son of Thomas G. Masaryk, known as the father of Czechoslovakia. Now the men who uncovered this plot are being arrested and accused of conspiring with anglo-American interests against the state. That is the same old line used by Moscow's pro-consuls wherever they wish to eliminate opposition leaders.

Hopes to Avoid Blowup

Benes apparently hopes to avoid an immediate blowup by having the opposition parties continue in a coalition government, while at the same time refusing to let the communists pack the cabinet with leaders of groups organizations which have no political standing. Benes probably believes that, if he can hold out until the Marshall plan begins to have its effect in Europe, his chances will be bettered.

But his course also serves to delay the elections, giving the communists time to complete their police reorganization and insure the result, just as communist police methods insured the results in Poland last year.

There is no slightest question that Benes, in seeking to preserve the precarious balance, is doing what he thinks is best for Czechoslovakia. Nor that the opposition parties, in deserting an election now to an almost certain communist coup later, are doing likewise.

But recent trends in Eastern Europe offer small hope that either of them will be successful.

Local Man Given Honor at College

Robert G. Norton, Twin Falls, was commencement marshal at mid-year graduation exercises at Whitman college, Walla Walla, Wash., Sunday, according to word received here.

Designation as commence marshal is one of the highest honors for scholastic achievement at Whitman college. The award is given each year to a member of the junior class. The commencement marshal heads the convocation and June commencement processions.

Norton, a war veteran, entered Whitman college a year and a half ago. He also has studied at Reed and Montana State colleges.

U.P. Car Tours West

An agricultural improvement car which serves as a meeting place for farmers, vocational agriculture students, county agents and agricultural speakers is currently in Magic Valley while on a tour of the west under the sponsorship of Union Pacific Railroad. States to be visited include Utah, Idaho, Washington, Oregon, Wyoming, Colorado, Kansas and Nebraska. In the above picture, A. J. Seitz, standing, Union Pacific vice president in charge of traffic, and Joe W. Jarvis, supervisor of the railroad's agricultural development department talk things over with a typical audience.

U. P. Farm Improvement Car Is For Benefit of Rushed Farmer

The Union Pacific's agricultural improvement car, now touring Magic Valley, is for the benefit of the farmer who can't be long away from his fields and chores, according to a release by J. B. Brennan, agent at Twin Falls.

First of its kind, the car features agricultural movies and speakers. It visited Gooding last Friday, Shoshone, Saturday; Jerome, Monday. The car was stopping in Rupert Tuesday and Burley Wednesday. It will be in Twin Falls Thursday.

The college of agriculture at the University of Idaho is assisting the Union Pacific with the project.

Speakers are provided on such topics as dairying, insect and pest control, plant production, fruit marketing, poultry, livestock and row crops.

Generally, four meetings a day are held. Tentative starting times are 9 a. m., 10:30 a. m., 1:30 p. m., and 3 p. m.

The first meeting of each day will be reserved for high school vocational agricultural students, who will be allowed to select the subject for discussions.

E. B. Baxter and L. H. Wagner, Union Pacific agriculture agents are in charge of the car during its tour. County agents serve as chairmen as the majority of meetings.

The car has toured Utah, Oregon, Washington and northern Idaho and also will visit Wyoming, Colorado, Kansas and Nebraska. The entire tour, which is sponsored by Union Pacific with the agricultural colleges of the respective states and the extension service cooperating, will take three months.

"This is the first time that a car of this kind has been used for agricultural meeting purposes," declared W. H. [illegible] "It will make an important contribution toward the improvement of our western agriculture."

Costing approximately $50,000, the car can accommodate 54 persons on tubular steel seats with leather cushions. The exterior of the car is painted streamliner red and yellow.

When motion pictures are to be shown a screen pulls down from the ceiling. The 16-millimeter projector is housed in a specially constructed room at the rear of the car.

A public address microphone is at the front of the car for the speaker's use, and individual hand microphones mounted on brackets are spotted along the car's side walls for listeners in asking questions. Two ceiling loudspeakers serve all microphones and the sound projector.

The car is a self-contained unit. A propane engine furnishes power for the lights, air conditioning system and the hot water heating system. Living quarters with complete lavatory facilities for two persons are included in the car.

Editor Buried In Snow Just About Gave in

WENATCHEE, Wash., Feb. 24 (AP) —W. R. (Bill) Hoard, news editor of a Wenatchee radio station, said last night had had resigned himself to death as he lay beneath a tremendous mass of snow that swept over him Sunday in a barrier mountain avalanche near Stevens pass.

Not until he heard the voices of ski patrol members and 50 volunteer rescuers probing in the slide did his hope for survival return.

Hoard was buried under tons of snow for more than an hour before he was pulled to safety. He was hit by the avalanche while going up a ski lift to get a toboggan for another skier who had broken his ankle.

Gulped Snow

Only by gulping snow was he able to clear a small breathing space. The weight of the snow mass prevented him from moving his arms or body.

"I couldn't seem to budge a muscle," Hoard said in describing his plight. "I ate some snow to make breathing room, and then when I tried to move my hand, I found I was able to feed myself more snow for more air. I knew I was a goner. I forced every breath.

"I thought of calling for help but realized it would waste precious air. I felt someone would have seen me disappear. I trusted they'd search for me.

No "Recollections"

"The events of my past life did not appear before me as I had often heard was the case in death by suffocation."

Hoard said the slide took him by complete surprise, and struck him as he turned to shout back to his skiing companion. It was his first accident in 15 years of skiing.

He praised the ski patrol and the volunteers for their speedy rescue. A little longer, he said, and he would have died.

"I want to thank them for my life."

"Many times a year the people turn to the Red Cross—once a year the Red Cross turns to the people; that time is now."

Statement by President Truman in March, 1947

Now...once again it's Red Cross Time!

Out of human suffering the Red Cross was born.

At the scenes of human suffering the Red Cross takes its place.

Emergency is its call to service. The unpredictable disaster—the uncontrollable flood and raging fire, the stealthy epidemic—when these strike, your Red Cross quickly reaches the victims, to comfort, sustain and restore.

The Red Cross must be prepared to spring instantly into action, any time, anywhere.

And the Red Cross will be ready. It will be ready because your generous dollars always have made possible its merciful work.

For the sake of the unsuspecting thousands who will be stricken this year . . . for the sake of those destined for injury and anguish . . . the Red Cross now turns to you.

It's March—and Red Cross time. This is the annual appeal the Red Cross makes so that your humanity may be spread throughout the coming year, among all—irrespective of race, color or creed.

You'll help again, won't you?

IT'S YOUR RED CROSS...KEEP IT GOING Give Generously!

EISENHOWER HAS COLD FACTS

General Eisenhower's final report as chief of staff brought a solemn and arresting note to the discordant jangle of today's comment and controversy. It spoke of military needs and preparation, but the one was of peace. There was nothing in it of belligerence or idle boasting.

As General Eisenhower was first a supreme commander of combat forces and then a chief military administrator and planner, so his report combined a close-range estimate of our defense requirements with a long view of the prospects of peace, and what we can do to bring them nearer.

The general is not a prophet, but his predictions made sense. They were not pleasant reading. He questioned whether, once again, the governments of the world have failed to learn the lesson that war teaches, the lesson of a savage futility that settles nothing.

By looking back on every war, General Eisenhower said, it is possible to see a point where the chain of events leading to it could have been broken and the conflict prevented. This, he concluded, disproves the theory that war is inevitable, and gives hope that its prevention is possible.

It can scarcely be disputed that the crucial point comes at the moment when a power or group of powers cries "Halt!" to the aggressor, and has enough strength to enforce the command. As General Eisenhower pointed out, the aggressor does not balk at war. He merely fears defeat.

Yet today's scene gives grave doubt that the repeated lesson has brought wisdom. Our government and the Russian government have been reviewing the chain of events that led to World war II. But the purpose of each is to accuse, not learn. Whoever wins this finger-pointing argument will have won a poor victory. For the argument only increases ill-feeling and slows the progress toward peace.

There are some Americans who counsel unilateral disarmament, appeasement and even surrender as the way to peace. Others would take a chance on losing the last barriers between America and an ambitious Russia rather than sacrifice the world's highest standard of living.

The Eisenhower report emphasized that a strong national defense is not the key to enduring peace. But without a strong America, the key cannot even be sought. Russia's ultimate challenge must be met and discouraged before it is offered.

It cannot be met by military weakness. It cannot be met if we would rather lower taxes than ensure our safety, or if we disarm for the sake of "the moral and social principles which," as General Eisenhower wrote, "the U. S. has proven, twice during my army career, to have regarded as more vital even than the blood of its finest young men."

We may not like what General Eisenhower has said. We may turn our eyes from the facts. We may think we are solving problems with petty crusades against petty obstacles. But the facts are there. They must be faced—not only by the short-sighted government officials and the vote-hungry politicians and the Henry Wallaces, but by all of us.

DOUBLE IMMUNITY

Sen. Elmer Thomas will tolerate no more inquiries into his "private activities," he has told a committee of colleagues investigating his commodity speculations. What's more, he will consider any more of the same "an insult to the sovereign state of Oklahoma."

Now, let's see. The senator takes refuge in the privacy of his private affairs. Then he strikes a pompous pose and announces that any questioning of those purely private affairs is an insult to his state.

This double immunity of private citizen and public official present some interesting possibilities. But it might put a little strain on the preservation of order and honesty under law if it were generally adopted.

SLIGHT OMISSION

"We don't care if you like us or not," Ana Pauker, the communist foreign minister of Romania, has told the American and British governments. "Our people like this regime."

The latter statement would probably have been more accurate if Mme. Pauker had remembered to add, "—or else!"

VIEWS OF OTHERS

POLITICAL BREAD

A crust of bread freely shared can be a benediction. A fat loaf given as a bribe will be bitter in the eating.

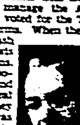

Chester Bowles, chairman of the international advisory council of the United Nations appeal for children, has found the common people of Europe full of distaste for the "political bread" they must eat. France and Italy, he points out, are being saved by American grain, Poland and Czechoslovakia by Soviet grain. Political trends determine who gets what from whom, and the eaters must bob and be grateful. As Mr. Bowles says:

They must have food at any cost, but they are bitter at having to swallow the hammer and sickle or the American eagle to get it.

Americans reared in a tradition of independence should be the first to understand this. The spontaneous gratitude which has greeted such gifts as they have sent freely, generously, and without political strings tells its own story. Contempt offers a bribe; faith holds out nourishment. — Christian Science Monitor.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

WASHINGTON—Organized labor suffered a severe blow when such a "liberal" as former Sen. Burton K. Wheeler, Mont., refused to manage the AFL's "purge" of congressmen who had voted for the Taft-Hartley act except on his own terms. When the full story becomes known their clash may jeopardize Green-Murray-Lewis prestige in the November elections.

Ray Tucker

Labor publicists have assailed so-called "capitalistic" writers and newspapers for hinting at the real version of their differences. They have denied flatly that there was any disagreement between the late "Bob" La Follette's 1924 running mate and his prospective employers.

They maintain that ex-Senator Wheeler declined the offer only because his lucrative law practice would permit him to operate simply on a part-time basis, whereas the AFL wanted a full-time political director.

Here are the facts:

• • •

DISAGREE — The labor leader who approached Wheeler first was George Harrison, head of the railway clerks. He is regarded as one of the ablest and most sensible leaders of the movement and has frequently been mentioned as a possible successor to AFL pres. William Green.

"Well, George," replied the Montana man, "I don't want to rush into this thing. In the first place, I don't believe in declaring war on a member of congress solely because you disagree with his single vote for the Taft-Hartley act."

"We are not going to do that," promised Harrison.

"Secondly," continued the former senator, "I am not in agreement with your outright, sight-unseen endorsement of the Marshall plan. I favor certain provisions of it, but I think it requires further study and examination."

Despite these reservations, and to Wheeler's chagrin, President Green issued a jubilant statement to the effect that the former senator would head the federation's League for Political Education. He regarded the acceptance as a master stroke because of Wheeler's close friendship with President Truman, and stressed this fact in his private conversations.

• • •

SYMPATHY — Wheeler immediately telephoned Green and expressed regret at the premature announcement. It was then agreed that the former senator should discuss the proposition with the AFL's executive committee at Miami. It was there that they parted company with mutual expressions of sympathy, but without revealing the inside story.

The top bosses, as Harrison had notified Wheeler after their first conversation, favored his appointment unanimously. Not until the Montanan indulged in more plain speaking at the Florida resort did the labor leaders back away.

Besides disclosing a division in their ranks over political policy on the "purge" and the Marshall plan, the outcome suggests that the more radical wing of labor controls the movement.

Dominant personality at the conference was David Dubinsky, head of the International Ladies Garment workers. No left-winger himself, the powerful Dubinsky enjoys unusual strength because of the size and wealth of his union. He has also maintained with President Truman the close alliance he had with President Roosevelt.

He had originally approved the Wheeler selection but he began to issue noncommittal statements after listening to the former senator at Miami.

• • •

POSITION—"I don't want you men to engage me without understanding my position perfectly," began Wheeler.

"As I told George, I think it a mistake to oppose men who have been your good friends for many years on capitol hill, and to decide their fate on the basis of a single ballot. Beside the fact that I don't relish the idea of fighting so many old friends of mine, I know that they voted conscientiously on this grave issue.

"I have already explained my attitude toward the Marshall plan. That has important implications for union members, both as workers and as consumers. I think that you ought to give more thought to it from that standpoint.

"Finally, I reserve the right to oppose my former colleague, James E. Murray, who is up for re-election this year."

Millionaire Murray has sponsored considerable social welfare legislation, and is a favorite with many labor elements. It is understood that he was largely responsible for Wheeler's defeat last year. Anyway, the ex-senator regards the present senator from Montana as a "fake Liberal."

• • •

REPEAL—The reasons for the rejection of Wheeler throw a bright light on organized labor's political aims for the 1948 election, to wit:

1. The leaders are principally concerned with the return of a congress which they can dominate more successfully than they have been able to control the eightieth session. All other considerations are secondary.

2. They will support President Truman, not because they love him as they did FDR, but because they feel that they have driven him into their corner on the great issue of the Taft-Hartley act.

3. They believe that election of a Republican President and congress will tend to dye Taft-Hartley restrictions, even though modified and softened, into the legal fabric. In short, no other consideration animates them except the repeal of this single measure.

VIEWS OF OTHERS

TELL THE WHOLE STORY

It strikes us the treasury department could do a rightful service to all concerned if it revised its method of publishing its annual list of top money earners of the year.

You know the lists we mean. They're usually headed by Louis B. Mayer with a year's salary of $500,571, and they run on down through lesser tycoons and movie luminaries who make $300,000 or $200,000 a year in wages and commissions.

What strikes us as wrong about this annual listing is that it gives a false impression. It's no skin off our teeth whether Louis B. Mayer or George E. Wilson make $500,000 or $3,000 a year. But we have noticed lately that it is becoming increasingly bad form with some people for anyone else to make a lot of money. Or if they do make a lot of money, to suspect them out loud of some sinister abuse of the common folks in the making of it.

However, though the annual publication of these names causes them more grief than joy, we don't propose that the treasury department take the spotlight off the high salary earners each year. We simply propose that the treasury department publish all the facts of the situation. For instance, in the case of a Louis B. Mayer who earned a salary of $500,000, rather than leaving it at that incomplete and misleading estate, the treasury officials could well add that of the salary Louis B. Mayer kept $50,000—and gave $450,000 to the government of the United States.

Thus, we think, the truth would be better served. And a lot of people reminded that the more successful a man becomes under our unequalled system of free enterprise, the greater becomes his relative obligation and contribution to the commonwealth of American people who don't make as much as he does. —Boise Statesman.

HOW ABOUT THAT FEDERAL BUILDING?

We note from the files of The News that Rupert was right at the top of the list of Idaho cities for a federal building in 1927, over 20 years ago.

Certainly the need for a building that will house the post office and other federal offices here has not diminished since that time. In fact, the need has constantly increased, and we are still told that Rupert is right at the top of the list for such a building.

This is an election year and it may be the opportune time to start a campaign that will actually land a federal building. We've been "kidded along" about long enough.

We respectfully call this to the attention of the Rupert Chamber of Commerce.—Minidoka County News.

POT SHOTS

DON'T LAUGH, SHE SAYS

Dear Pot Shots:

Turn back the clock about four years. Glen Taylor was traveling around Idaho in a car with his family, a guitar and, yes, a horse. (The horse was in a trailer behind the car).

People laughed at him.

He was elected senator.

Comes 1948. A goodly portion of the voters in this nation are scheduled to see a repeat of the 1944 show by Taylor, we'll wager. In addition, people may see demonstrations of boomerang-throwing by Henry Wallace. People will laugh.

What will happen in November?

I. M. Serious

• • •

EVER HEAR THIS?

Dear Potso:

A little matter of money confused a stenographer at one of the local radio stations recently. We don't know if she's ever been straightened out.

Anyway, here's what happened: During a phone conversation, the term "four-bits" was mentioned by the party at the other end of the line. When the steno inquired what that meant, she was told four-bits was twice two-bits, one-tenth of a fin or a twentieth of a sawbuck.

She referred the matter to a bank, finally wrote down "four-bits" on a report of the whole situation.

Our Get-Rich-Quick Expert opines that folks used to make their own clothing on spinning wheels, but now they lose their shirts on 'em.

DON'T LOOK NOW, BUT—

We probably wouldn't have noticed this, but the Missus happened to hang three particular shirts in a row in the closet. One of the shirts was pre-war (about 1939, believe it or not), one was the vintage of early 1945 and the third one was a late '47 model. Naturally, the 1945 shirt was shorter than the other two, but the 1947 shirt was about two inches longer than the pre-war model, probably because the 1939 model has been stretched, we presume.

So we'll eliminate the pre-war model. Anyway, 1947 shirts are considerably longer than those hard-to-keep-the-shirttails-in models of the days of OPA.

Though we doubt if the general public has noticed it, a "new look" has developed in shirts. Or would you brethren say it was the return of the "old look?"

FAMOUS LAST LINE

. . . Betcha Idaho Democrats don't nominate Taylor for senator in 1950!!

GENTLEMAN IN THE FOURTH ROW

BOB HOPE

I see where a recent war department directive has just authorized the wearing of formal dress by all army officers. I guess from now on it will be pretty hard to tell the difference between a second lieutenant and a man of distinction.

Bob Hope

I imagine it won't be long before every army handbook will include a chapter by Lucius Beebe.

And, of course, from now on the supply sergeant will be a guy who knows how to make a bow tie.

It will be easy to tell which officers are in the air forces . . . they'll be wearing wing tip collars.

For formal occasions the full dress uniform will probably be top hat, white tie and cartridge belt. If it's extremely formal, they'll wear open-toed army shoes.

With formal dress authorized in the army, I guess from now on before an officer can be promoted, he'll have to be approved by Adolphe Menjou.

And when two second lieutenants meet they won't salute . . . They'll just brush each other off.

I hear the officer of the guard on one army post was a big hero the other day . . . The post burned down . . . but he saved the laundry.

"WASHINGTON CALLING" BY MARQUIS CHILDS

A single word sums up the doubts and uncertainties that today plague the European recovery program. That word is fear.

Policy-makers in the state department are afraid of congress. Republicans in congress who have carried the burden of leadership of the recovery program are fearful that a little band of Republican senators mean to pare the program down to mere breadline dimensions. Back of this is the fear of an irreparable split in the party in a year when victory seems so close.

Marquis Childs

Nothing illustrates these fears so well as the recent off-again-on-again business over a proposed new meeting of the sixteen Marshall plan nations in Europe. It shows a pathetic lack of the kind of boldness that is called for if the western world is to triumph over the forces of deterioration and decay.

Over and over again in this country the Europeans are criticized for their failure to get together on practical measures of cooperation. Thoroughly aware of this criticism and its bearing on the national attitude toward aid to Europe, certain leaders in France pressed for a new meeting of representatives of the Marshall plan countries.

• • •

With the help of allies in this country, pressure was put on London, where there was reluctance. If Foreign Secy. Ernest Bevin's fine words about a western European union were to mean anything, it was argued, then a healthy demonstration of practical cooperation right away would be in order.

Finally a meeting was agreed to. A tentative date was set and a planning committee began to work out an agenda. High up on that agenda was a proposal to discuss the kind of political conditions which, if specified in an aid program, would make it unworkable.

When this was cabled back to the state department, it gave policy-makers the nervous tremors. They began to imagine immediately how congress would react to such a discussion at the very moment when the fate of the recovery bill would be in the balance.

So strong were these fears that a wire went from Undersecy. of State Robert A. Lovett urging that the meeting either be called off or postponed. This was enough of a hint for those who had been preparing for the session and so, as of this date, the 16 nations will not get together again.

• • •

A far simpler solution would have been to suggest that the discussion of political conditions be taken off the schedule. Then a meeting might have been held which would have helped to silence criticism here. As it is, that criticism goes on.

The talk of compromise on the recovery program in congress is another example of the dictate of fear. The realists argue, of course, that in an election year with authority divided between a Republican congress and a Democratic President, this is the only way to insure passage of a bill within the ever pressing time schedule. And the realists have a lot on their side. The alternative would seem to be a slam-bang battle prolonged into June or July.

That is why the compromisers are working so earnestly to find a quick and painless way out. A half dozen proposals are under study. One is to ask congress merely for an authorization by the reconstruction finance corporation to cover the first 12 months of Marshall plan operation. This would be a sum of 5 to 5½ billions.

That would prevent a showdown over the $6,800,000,000—the sum requested by the administration for the first 15 months. Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg, foreign-policy leader in the senate, has let it be known that such a showdown might wreck the plan itself.

On the other hand, a compromise might divert public attention from the real issues involved. The strategy of the bitter-end opposition has been to avoid any frontal attack on the plan while constantly sniping at details of administration, size of appropriations, and so on. Behind the facade of a compromise, the bitter-enders could work to undermine the purpose of the plan.

This last is just now giving Secretary of State Marshall deep concern. In the important speech he delivered before the National Farm Institute in Des Moines, Ia., he warned that the primary goal of European reconstruction is being lost sight of in a quibble over details. That is a timely warning which should be heeded here in Washington.

nothing more nor less than a political accident and a menace to democracy. Election returns of the various elections he was in bear this out."

Compton I. White, former Democratic congressman from the first district, said he regretted Idaho's senior senator was not supporting President Truman's and Secretary Marshall's plan for European recovery.

Unknown 10 Years Ago

Ten years ago the 43-year-old Taylor was a political unknown.

In the years since he has defeated scene of Idaho's most potent vote-getters, landed a seat in the senate and bolted his party to seek the office of vice president.

Born in Portland, Ore., April 12, 1904, the son of a Christian minister, he was brought to Kooskia, Ida., when he was less than a year old. Later the family moved to Lewiston.

He herded sheep when he was 12 years old and worked at 15 at a cowboy and hay hand.

Had Theatrical Troupe

Taylor conducted a theatrical troupe through Idaho and other western states for several years and later appeared as a singing cowboy entertainer.

He started running for congress in 1938 while still operating his troupe of entertainers. He ran fourth in a field of nine for the house of representatives.

In 1940 Taylor sought the seat left vacant by the death of Sen. William E. Borah.

Fought 2 Stalwarts

He entered the primary against two party stalwarts, Donart and James R. Bothwell of Twin Falls. Taylor wasn't given a chance, but he toured the state strumming a guitar and singing cowboy ballads. His sound truck also carried his horse "Nig."

Taylor won the Democratic nomination, but was defeated in the general election by John Thomas, Gooding sheepman and banker.

Two years later he defeated Gossett, Bothwell, Owen Stratton and P. M. Bistline, now national committeeman, for the Democratic senate nomination. Again Taylor campaigned with "Nig" and cowboy ballads. Again he lost to Thomas in the general election.

Third Time Is Charm

The next time was the charm for the singing cowboy, who worked as a sheet-metal worker in a San Francisco war plant between campaigns.

He defeated incumbent Sen. D. Worth Clark, members of a top rank Idaho political family, in the primary. He went on to victory in the general election over politically-wise C. A. Bottolfsen, former governor.

Taylor lost no time hitting the headlines after getting to Washington.

Unable to find a place to live, he house-hunted by strumming his guitar on the capitol steps, singing "Oh, give me a home . . ."

Bedke Elected by Oakley Farmers

OAKLEY, Feb. 24 — Jess Bedke Friday was elected chairman of the Oakley Farm Bureau.

A dance was sponsored by the organization in the Rainbow hall Friday evening.

Poland's Election Protests Snubbed

WARSAW, Feb. 24 (AP)—Poland's supreme court refused to recognize a general protest against the conduct of elections which set up the present government.

The high tribunal in Lodz said the general charges of fraud, irregularities and intimidation of voters lacked proper presentation.

General protest was entered by Stanislaw Mikolajczyk as president of the former opposition Polish Peasant party. He fled to America last October.

Analyst Recalls Resignation of Eden as Globe-Stunning Event

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Ten years ago a brilliant young British statesman, who had the world at his feet, challenged fate by resigning the great position of foreign secretary as a protest against his prime minister's policy of appeasing the dictators.

MacKenzie

We are, of course, speaking of Anthony Eden, then only 40 and the youngest man in more than four score years to hold this exalted post. Since there still are folk who cling to appeasement—either because they are muddled or mischievous—we may profit by taking a look at Eden's case.

The aristocratic young Briton was riding the crest of international popularity at that time. He was gifted with a genius that early had showed itself at Eton and Oxford. He joined the colors at 17 in the first World war; at 19 he was the youngest adjutant in the British army; at 20 he was a brigade major.

Eden was only 26 when he was elected to parliament—a political prodigy. None other than Winston Churchill declared he was "the only fresh figure of first magnitude arising out of the generation which was ravaged by the (first) great war."

As foreign secretary, Eden's fame circled the globe. Sartorial experts called him "the best dressed politician in the world." The Eden black Homburg was known wherever hats were worn. He was pretty much lord of all he surveyed.

But the statesman was unhappy. He was trying to serve two masters —his conscience and a prime minister who persisted in trying to curb the aggression of Hitler and Mussolini with soft words.

To be sure, Eden had carried the battle single-handed into the camps of both dictators. Even before he was foreign secretary, and was minister for league of nations affairs, he had lectured the pompous duce in Rome for the invasion of Ethiopia and was mainly responsible for persuading the league to impose sanctions on Italy. He had shown his disdain of Hitler by openly yawning as the nazi leader was indulging in a bombastic outburst about his love of peace during a fruitless disarmament discussion in Berlin.

Both dictators had a bitter hatred of Eden and made him the object of constant attacks. It wasn't strange, therefore, that the foreign secretary finally should reach a point where he either had to break with his chief or abandon the dictates of conscience. Naturally there was only one answer to that, and on Feb. 20, 1938, he created a world sensation by resigning.

The war clouds continued to gather as Chamberlain pursued his disastrous appeasement.

After war began Chamberlain called on Eden to serve as dominions secretary. Then when Churchill became prime minister he made Eden war secretary and later foreign secretary again, as well as leader of the house of commons.

Thus Eden became runner-up to Churchill as leader of Britain's powerful Conservative party, and the way things now stand will inherit the mantle of the elder statesman.

Gas Bugs Initiate Member at Meet

Minneapolis' Teachers Go Out in Strike

MINNEAPOLIS, Feb. 24 (U.P.) — Union teachers struck throughout the city today, giving more than 75,000 students an enforced vacation.

Approximately 1,100 teachers stayed away from their classes to support their demands for higher pay and to force the board of education to abandon its plans to cut the school year by two weeks.

The strike originally had been scheduled to start with 8 a. m. classes but was moved up an hour at the last minute before the teachers had appeared at their desks.

Others Stay Away

An additional 1,500 non-union teachers stayed away from classrooms on order from the board of education that no attempt would be made to operate the city's 92 public schools during the strike.

Final orders for the walkout were issued last night after Mayor Hubert H. Humphrey failed in an 11th hour mediation attempt. Humphrey said there appeared to be "no spirit of conciliation" on the part of the union and board of education officials.

No Fanfare

The strike began without fanfare. Some teachers arrived at school buildings a few minutes before 7, and as the deadline arrived took up picket-line posts assigned them five days ago when negotiations appeared deadlocked and the stoppage inevitable.

Other teachers picketed the city hall in a protest against failure of city authorities to provide adequate school funds. However, strike leaders said the "token" picketing would be ended soon.

Two locals of the American Federation of Teachers (AFL) are involved in the strike.

Uncle Joe Halts 'Buying Parties' For Vet of U. S.

NEW YORK, Feb. 24 (AP)—Premier Josef Stalin has stopped buying drinks for Noman E. Hyams and his friends.

Hyams, a navy veteran credited with knocking down eight nazi planes on the Murmansk convoy run during the war, was awarded the Russian order of glory, third class—and a grant of $48,231 a year.

But glory's path, Russian style, ended several weeks ago, Hyams disclosed today. The Russian government notified him and other Americans similarly honored that their payments were cut off.

"Whenever I'd collect, I'd take the boys out," Hyams said. "Everybody enjoyed having a few on Joe."

Hyams said his gang started yelling, "where's our party on Joe Stalin?" when the penalon ended.

He went to the Russian consulate and was told the reason:

"Orders from Moscow."

Truman Rests On Ship After Tour on Isles

ABOARD WILLIAMSBURG IN CARIBBEAN, Feb. 24 (U.P.)—After a strenuous three-day schedule of sightseeing and speechmaking, President Truman took things easy today as the presidential yacht moved toward Cuba.

The President and his party are due to arrive at the U. S. naval base at Guantanamo bay tomorrow.

Because of a painful sunburn which he picked up at Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands, Mr. Truman planned to remain below deck most of the day.

Appreciation Given

He sent messages of appreciation to Gov. William Hastle of the Virgin Islands and Gov. Jesus T. Pinero of Puerto Rico, his hosts during the past three days.

As did Hastle, Mr. Truman yesterday visited St. Croix and received a colorful rural welcome from inhabitants of the rum and sugar country. School children turned out in their Sunday best to greet him and a native calypso band serenaded him.

Progress Predicted

In an impromptu speech, the President predicted that improved air facilities would stimulate commerce in the islands. He said he hoped some day to return and to find the islands on a "self-supporting basis."

At the same time, Mr. Truman promised to "do everything in my power" to get congress to renew the charter of the Virgin Islands company, which furnishes employment for many of the natives. This government-financed company, according to Hastle, is the difference between a "marginal and a starvation economy."

Contracts Given On Dam Devices

COULEE DAM, Wash., Feb. 24 (AP)—Contracts for three more huge generators at Grand Coulee dam and nine transformers to serve them have been awarded to the Westinghouse Electric corporation.

The bureau of reclamation said today that its latest contracts to the East Pittsburgh, Pa., firm totaled $6,466,740. That total includes $5,410,931 for the generators and $1,055,809 for the transformers.

The new generators will be of the same world record capacity as others installed or under construction at the dam. Each has a rated capacity of 108,000 kilowatts and each can surpass that output on an "overload" basis.

Getting all the generators installed in the world's largest concrete dam is a long-range program. Grand Coulee now has a rated power capacity of 864,000 kilowatts. This total will jump to 972,000 by June when the ninth and last generator is completed in the west powerhouse at the dam.

White May Seek Return to House

BOISE, Feb. 24 (AP)—Compton I. White may seek the Democratic nomination for congress in the first Idaho district.

He said he is giving a lot of thought to running again for the office he held from 1932 until defeated in 1946 by Republican Abe Goff.

"I haven't made up my mind, but that's one of the reasons I'm here," White said. "I plan to meet with old friends and confer with party leaders during the gathering Thursday. Maybe I'll learn enough to help me make up my mind."

The Jefferson-Jackson day banquet Thursday will be preceded by a meeting of the Democratic state central committee.

Local Man Fined In Hailey Court

HAILEY, Feb. 24 — Harold E. Smithheart, who gave his address as Twin Falls, was fined $35, given a 10-day jail sentence and assessed court costs of $20.20 Saturday when he pleaded guilty to charges of unlawfully obtaining lodging at the Casino hotel, Ketchum.

He appeared before Probate Judge George A. McLeod on charges preferred by Harold Kleinkopf, manager of the Casino hotel coffee shop, where Smithheart had been employed.

According to Hailey authorities, Smithheart was arrested Friday in Ketchum by a Twin Falls officer who was not identified.

Boy Scout Fund Drive Over $600

HANSEN, Feb. 24—Contributions to the Kimberly-Hansen-Murtaugh Boy Scout district fund drive were near the $600 mark Saturday, according to Don D. Gibbs, district finance chairman.

Started last Wednesday, the fund campaign ends today. Workers are urged to turn in their collections to district sub-chairmen by this evening, Gibbs said.

Senate Started With 'Dignity,' And It's Gathered Much Moss

By HARMON W. NICHOLS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24 (U.P.)—George Washington once described the U. S. senate as "the saucer in which the tea of the house brew is cooled."

In the old, old days the senators gave the brew a fast, figurative chilling with considerable dignity going into the blowing.

Harman Nichols

The dignity, deck-high in tradition, has sifted down through the ages. The senate is formal, and so is most everything that goes into it. The senate president still whacks for order with the very gavel used by the continental congress.

Although there isn't a snuff-sniffer in the upper house now, so far as is known, the old snuff boxes remain. Two of them are kept filled, although the snuff stuff is probably stale and powerful enough to tickle up a sneeze at 10 paces if the wind is right. The old-time sand-dusters, used to blot ink in the quill pen days, still rest on each senator's desk. Some even use them.

The senators of today are made of the same rugged individualistic timber as their forebears.

Sen. Clyde R. Hoey carries on the North Carolina tradition begun in the horsey 1800's. He wears a long-tailed black frock coat to each session, never gets his white mane clipped and always sports a red carnation in his button hole.

Sen. John H. Overton will have no truck with violation of old-time rules. Each summer he hauls out his hammer and tacks up a sign in his office letting everybody know he keeps all appointments on standard time—not daylight saving.

Sen. Theodore Francis Green of Rhode Island doesn't trust cab drivers and rides only street cars to the capitol. He doesn't even like the new fangled motor-driven buses. Too smelly, and at the same time "unsafe" because they don't follow the trail of the trust-worthy tracks.

Sen. William Langer of North Dakota chews on 50 cent stogies—but without talking off the cellophane.

The senate of yesterday had their share of lovable characters, too.

Old Sam Houston of Texas was an incurable whittler. Each morning of a session day, a page boy was assigned to fetch a bundle of lumber and put it before the senator's private chair. After the opening prayer, Sam would whip out his frog-sticker and start piling shavings in front of him.

If he happened to be interested in the senate debate, he would do a reasonable spit-and-whittle job. But if his colleagues were arguing what he considered trivia, Sam would carve out models of boats and send them to constituents of voting age.

Sen. Charles Sumner was known as the carpalling senator. He had a habit, when excited, of grabbing the nearest page boy by the ear lobes. Once, in a spell of excitement during a session, he hooked onto the ears of a knickered lad and marched him up and down the aisle for 10 minutes before he realized what he was doing.

Legend has it that the senator lost a vote when the youngster grew up.

2 Groups Ask Equal Rate on Tax Assessing

BOISE, Feb. 24 (U.P.)—The Idaho tax commission today received a request from a group of Idaho citizens to assess merchandise inventories on the same basis as other classes of property.

A resolution urging the commission to amend an earlier order covering property assessments was adopted at a meeting of some 50 Idahoans called by the Idaho State Chamber of Commerce and the Associated Taxpayers of Idaho, Inc.

Instructions Recalled

The commission recently instructed the various county assessors to assess merchandise at 45 per cent of actual value and livestock and lumber at 40 per cent.

In its resolution, the group held that "where a percentage of full cash value is used for assessment purposes, the same percentage must be applied to all classes of property."

Study Authorized

The group also authorized appointment of a committee to study the powers of the state tax commission and determine whether it can force equalization of property assessment among the counties. If the commission lacks this authority, the group urged that legislation be sought to grant it such power.

The committee will be appointed by Harry Elcock, Twin Falls, state chamber president who presided at yesterday's meeting, and Presley Horne, Caldwell, president of the Associated Taxpayers.

"What do you know? We're both the same height?"

They were, too. Both six-footers.

FIELD DAY PLANNED

BOISE, Feb. 24 (AP)—The reading of Idaho's certified seed potato tests in Oceanside, Calif., will be highlighted by a potato growers field day March 4. Readings on the test plots will be made during the week of Feb. 29 under the direction of T. C. Blackburn, manager of the Idaho Crop Improvement association, and R. D. Pelkey, extension potato specialist for the University of Idaho.

Expert Discounts Rumored Effects Of Atomic Bomb

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 24 (AP) — The atomic bomb will not leave behind a race of sterile, grotesque human beings, an expert reported last night.

Capt. R. Harold Dresger has been studying atomic radiation aftereffects for the atomic energy medical group, of which he has charge. In an address here, he said:

1. Atomic radiation will not bring about sterility.

2. It will not bring about future generations of ill-formed, grotesque humans.

3. Plant life will not increase to abnormal size in places where bombs have been dropped.

4. Scars from atomic burns on the Japanese are no different from burns caused by regular incendiary bombs.

5. There apparently is no long lasting effect upon victims. They either die within a few days or recover with two or three months of proper treatment.

District Head Of Methodists Turns Author

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Feb. 24—Dr. George O. Roseberry, Twin Falls, Ida., superintendent of the eastern district, Idaho conference of Methodist church, is a featured writer in the March issue of "The Pastor," a specialized magazine for ministers of every faith.

"Toward Success in the Ministry" is the title of Dr. Roseberry's article in which he expresses the opinion that the man who demonstrates the Christlike attitude in all the experiences of life, and makes of each experience a stepping-stone toward perfection, is successful in the ministry.

Dr. Roseberry gives five factors listed by 14 members in his district that lead to success in the ministry. They are arranged according to the number of votes each received, as follows:

1—Personal and family devotions. Regular study habits. Calls on church members.

2—Love of the people of the church. Improvement of pulpit manners and homiletic skill. Good administration.

3—Tolerance toward others. Careful preparation of sermons. Conquered and regulated temper. Success in rearing one's own family. Placing church responsibilities before outside activities.

4—"Practicing what one preaches." Regular exercise. Good personal appearance. Understanding of all ages of people. Adequate financial support. Care for church and parsonage grounds.

5—Visitation evangelism. A plan for the year's preaching. A "happy" religion. Proper appreciation of the task. Spiritual warmth in the pulpit. Well-managed personal finances. An understanding wife. Sense of humor.

Here's Text of Speech Taylor Made When He Bolted Demos

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24 (AP)—Following is the text of the statement of Sen. Taylor, D., Ida., announcing his joining with Henry Wallace, third party candidate for President:

"Last winter, in speaking at the Jackson day dinner, I referred to the sad state the country would be in if it had to choose between a Democratic tweedle-dum and a Republican tweedle-dee. I want to amend that simile, so let me put it this way: The Democratic party is tweedle dummer."

Words of FDR

"Those are not my words. They are the words of the greatest of all Democrats, the greatest statesman of our generation—Franklin Delano Roosevelt. He was speaking before the Young Democratic clubs of America on Aug. 8, 1939, and in the same speech he also said this:

"'If we nominate conservative candidates, or lip-service candidates, on a straddle-bug platform, I personally,' said Mr. Roosevelt, 'for my own self respect and because of my long service to, and belief in, liberal democracy, will find it impossible to have any active part in such an unfortunate suicide of the old Democratic party.'

"Franklin Roosevelt saved the Democratic party from that suicide in 1940 by consenting to run for a third term. In the process he was deserted by Jim Farley. Now Farley is back in good graces. He is back just in time to participate in the suicide that Roosevelt prevented in 1940.

Says Principles Betrayed

"I, no more than Roosevelt, could remain in the party which has betrayed the principles in which I believe. Happily in 1948 we have a place to go where we can actively carry on the fight.

"I am going to cast my lot with Henry Wallace in his brave and gallant fight for peace.

"I am convinced that Henry Wallace is the only leader capable of ending the cold war and reestablishing even the beginnings of international good will. He is the only leader of sufficient stature to aspire to the presidency who has not sought the cheap applause of the reactionary press by blaming all our troubles on Russia. He is the only leader we can put forward who has the confidence of peoples everywhere.

Sees Wonderful Campaign

"It is going to be wonderful to campaign side by side with Henry Wallace in a new party with all the idealism and enthusiasm which is bound to be created by such a rare opportunity in American politics. Now I will be free to fight this bi-partisan coalition and all its works; Taft-Hartley — universal military training—this drive toward war—high prices and racial discrimination and suppression of civil liberties. I know that I am going to feel good in the realization that I am not teamed up with the big city bosses Kelly, Hague, Flynn, Curley, Pendergast and I will not have to try to reconcile my views to the medieval Jim Crow concepts of Crump and Rankin and all the other poll taxers and professional enemies of human freedom and fundamental American rights. Neither will I be faced with the problems confronted by the pitifully small group of Republican liberals who have to swallow and rationalize a program laid down for them by Mr. Pew, Col. McCormick, Senator Taft and the National Association of Manufacturers. I am going to feel good inside. I do feel good because I can come out swinging for the things in which I believe without fear of stepping on the prejudices or privileges of some unsavory associate . . . no Pauleys, no oil, no Wall street, no generals, no privileged few.

"Some liberal candidates will be running on the old party tickets. I should like to make very clear that as far as I am concerned, the new party will join in trying to elect those Democrats and those few Republicans who are liberals. There should be no futile effort to split the progressive vote by introduction of a new party congressional candidate in those contests. Certainly, where the old party candidates are hopeless the new party should fight to elect its own candidates.

"I am not leaving the Democratic party, it left me. Wall street and the military have taken over.

"I received a mandate from the people of Idaho to carry out the policies of President Roosevelt in the senate. I pledged myself to support a world organization to promote peace. Our foreign policy of supporting reaction all over the world on a unilateral basis has weakened and undermined and almost destroyed the United Nations. I would be untrue to the people who elected me if I took any action other than the one I have chosen.

"Over and over again, after my talks in Idaho and across the nation, I have been asked by many of you who heard me, 'We agree with you 100 per cent but how can we take action to help stop this rush to war?' and I have had to answer, 'I don't know.'

"Now there is something you can do. You can work for a party and vote for a party that stands four-square for a program of peace and abundance. I would be happy to hear from all of you who want to work with us to build this great people's movement.

Human Mistake

Many liberals and labor leaders have made the human mistake of deciding that while the things Wallace stood for were right, the practical thing to do was to support the Democratic party as the lesser of two evils. As the new party continues to grow and gain strength, as it surely will, I am positive these sincere but temporarily mistaken leaders will be unable to resist the clean, clear-cut appeal of the new party and join us. But even if some leaders refuse to sacrifice their position for reasons of pride or prestige, I am confident the workers, the average Americans who crave peace in their land, want a square deal at home will follow their own convictions and help insure the victory of this crusade in behalf of the common man.

"Soon I will be asked me if I intend to renounce the support of certain groups. What groups? If you start renouncing and denouncing, where do you stop? Will the old party bosses renounce the support of anyone who is a member of the National Association of Manufacturers? I believe the NAM policies and program mean economic disaster to America. Will any politician renounce the support of the high moguls of the steel trust? Last week they again raised the price of steel $5 per ton. This wanton action, when their profits are the highest in history, has dealt our free enterprise system a blow that may well lead to the economic catastrophe that the press has told us Stalin is so anxiously awaiting. Those monopolists have probably, in one day, added more cause of communism than all the efforts of all our communists through all the years. Is the Republican or Democratic leadership going to renounce the support of those monopolistic enemies of the republic? No. They will be anxiously sought after and solicited because they are rich and powerful.

Pledges Fight on Big Steel

"I am happy to have the support of all those who go along with our program. But just let me say to the communists so there will be no misunderstanding, my efforts in the future as in the past will be directed toward the goal of making our economy work so well and our way of life so attractive and our people so contented that communism will never interest more than the infinitesimal fraction of our citizens who adhere to it now.

Pledges Fight on Big Steel

"And if any of the bosses of big steel are more interested in peace and survival than in monetary gain, they will support Henry Wallace and myself. But I must warn them and all those selfish interests like them that I will continue—both in and out of the senate—to try to break their arrogant power to destroy small business and labor unions and make them and their machines the servants of the people rather than their masters and destroyers.

We stand at the most terrifying and cataclysmic instant in all history. The awful cloud of the atomic bomb darkens the heavens and dwarfs us into a numbing sense of futility, helplessness and hopelessness.

But look. This is also the most glorious moment in man's long climb from the caves of savagery and ignorance. This atom that can destroy us can also free all men from drudgery and give us abundance and leisure that we may conquer ignorance, hate and intolerance. For surely all hate and intolerance are based on ignorance.

We have this chance, I believe a last chance, to turn utter catastrophe into the supreme victory of mankind. Yonder beckons the spirit of the master holding in the gate of peace if we but have the vision and the courage to turn our backs on the old ways of force and violence.

A few short years ago under the inspired leadership of Franklin Delano Roosevelt we were close to the goal of establishing mutual confidence and lasting friendship with our neighbors and allies. Since the day he left us, we have been stumbling back down the road toward the valley of despond.

I believe the American people will rise to the heights of faith and sacrifice demanded at this most demanding moment of all time. I believe it sincerely. I have confidence. I have the faith that will move mountains. You, all of you, must share this faith and prepare to join together in this great work to turn faith into reality. We dare not falter because a few steps farther down the road we are presently traveling lurks oblivion. Not just another war—atomic and bacteriological oblivion.

I know that enough of you will partake of my faith and idealism and the faith and idealism of Henry Wallace to carry this crusade for security and peace to a glorious and successful conclusion.

Ladies and gentlemen there is in the studio with me this evening a great American scientist who has probably contributed more to the well-being of the American farmer than any other citizen. A man who stands throughout the world as a symbol of the desire of his countrymen to live in peace with all their neighbors. This man's name has become synonymous with human welfare and first in the affections of the common man.

Henry Wallace, do you remember the day I took my seat in the senate? You, as vice-president, administered to me the oath to support and defend the constitution and you were the first to shake my hand. And do you remember what I told you then?

He said, "Mr. Wallace, for years I have been a great admirer of yours. I like a man who is sincere and honest." I said that then and I can only say now that my admiration and affection for you have grown throughout the years because of your steadfast devotion to the welfare of mankind and the cause of world-peace.

I am happy and proud, Henry Wallace, to be associated with you in this great new undertaking.

5 States Refuse To Waive Limits

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24 (AP)—Five states, including Montana, refused to drop their weight rules to let oil trucks load to capacity during the fuel emergency, the office of defense transportation reported today. But it said response to its appeal was good.

Col. J. Monroe Johnson, ODT director, had asked all states to relax weight limits to permit heavier loads for distressed areas.

Joseph Keller, ODT "adviser on state barriers," said that 37 states were heard from, the big majority pleading cooperation.

Twins Make New Record in Glider

INGLEWOOD, Calif., Feb. 24 (AP)—Thirty-three-year-old twin brothers claimed a new glider plane soaring mark last night after they had remained aloft for more than 12 hours.

They are Herman Sulgimeir and Henry Meyers.

Aided by offshore winds, they were soaring over the ocean and the coastal hills up to altitudes as great as 8,000 feet. The previous record for a two place glider was 10 hours, nine minutes.

New Methods Aid Aiming of 'V-2' Rockets

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24 (U.P.) — Army scientists said today that improved control devices on the V-2 German rocket eventually will be able to steer it to within yards — instead of miles—of its target.

During World war II, Germans V-2s missed their mark by an average of six miles.

For reasons of security, the army would not say specifically how much, if any, improvement has been made.

First Step Taken

Lieut.-Col. J. G. Bain, chief of the guided missiles branch of army ordinance said scientists have made only the first step in a long chain of experiments necessary to improve the marksmanship of the rocket.

In this connection, he said, scientists are working on improvements in the gyroscopic control and other control mechanisms of the V-2.

Scientists at the White Sands, N. M., proving grounds revealed recently that they had succeeded in controlling a V-2 rocket in flight for the first time.

Long Process

Bain said it will be a long, drawn out process before controls are perfected. Actually, he said, there are only 60 seconds of flight during which the V-2 can be controlled—from the moment the rocket leaves the launching platform until it leaves the earth's atmosphere.

The rocket, he said, cannot be controlled beyond the earth's atmosphere or in the atmosphere on its downward plunge.

The V-2 roars into the stratosphere at speeds up to 3,400 miles an hour.

Direct Air Route To South Africa Charted by Firm

NEW YORK, Feb. 24 (AP)—Pan-American World Airways announced direct service will be inaugurated Wednesday between the United States and South Africa with a flight carrying 19 American publishers and newspaper executives.

The clipper Southern Cross will leave LaGuardia field at 6 p. m. (EST) Wednesday and fly the 8,512 miles to Johannesburg via the Azores, Dakar, Accra and Leopoldville.

The group will make a six-day tour of the Union of South Africa. The Southern Cross is scheduled to arrive back here March 8.

Those making the trip will include Norman Chandler, president, the Los Angeles Times; Palmer Hoyt, publisher, the Denver Post, and Philip L. Jackson, president, Journal Publishing company, Portland, Ore.

Service over the route will be on a weekly round trip basis.

Talmadge Winner Of Party Control

ATLANTA, Feb. 24 (AP)—Herman Talmadge adherents have won legal control of Georgia Democratic party machinery today, ending 10 months of contest and confusion.

The state supreme court held unanimously that a state party organization aligned with the son of the late red-plaided Governor Talmadge is the rightful claimant to party power.

A rival faction of Gov. M. E. Thompson — tacitly recognized by national Democratic officials—was ruled without official or legal standing.

The two groups have praised their claims since last April. Each branded the other as "bolters" and "rump Democrats."

Truck Operators Warned of Limits

BOISE, Feb. 24 (AP)—Idaho truck operators today were warned by Alton P. Bunderson, superintendent of state police, to meet new truck way qualifications by March 31.

Bunderson said all trucks more than 80 inches wide must have clearance lights and that the rear license plates must be properly lit by the tail lights.

He said trucks must have the gross weight stenciled on each side in letters at least two inches high.

He said all trucks must have the 1948 receipt of registration in the truck at all times. Trucks also must have either signal arms or directional lights after March 31.

Falling Rock Kills State Mine Chief

WALLACE, Feb. 24 (AP)—A falling rock slab yesterday killed Ben Thomas, 43, superintendent and part owner of the Thomas Consolidated Mines, Inc.

Dr. H. C. Mowery, coroner, said Thomas' chest was crushed. He was standing on the 500-foot level of the mine, located at Nine Mile canyon north of here, when the rock slab fell. Development work started recently and crews were sinking a shaft.

Senate Panel Defeat Is Seen On Rockwell Reclamation Act

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON (NEA) — How eastern Republican congressmen were rallied to change a public power and reclamation bill from the form in which it was wanted by a majority of the western congressmen in both parties, makes one of the more intriguing political whodunits of the 80th congress.

It concerns the so-called Rockwell bill, recently passed by the house, 232 to 120. According to the bureau of reclamation, the agency in charge of federal power projects, the bill, as passed by the house, will increase the rates charged for electricity generated at government dams by from 14 to 40 per cent.

Peter Edson

The bill may be buried or changed in the senate, where western states have more influence. If it should get through the senate in its present form, it would probably face a presidential veto. But the background is interesting as an example of who is pulling what ropes in congress and why.

The bill was introduced a year ago by Rep. Robert F. Rockwell, Colorado Republican, as an amendment to the reclamation law of 1939. One main purpose was to give congress more control over deciding what projects should be started and how carried out. Since 1902, the secretary of interior has had this authority.

Rockwell also admitted, however, that another purpose was to increase the rates charged for public power. The idea was to make public power compete with that produced by private companies.

This was to be done by three moves. First, by making government power projects pay back their cost of construction in a shorter period of time. Second, by requiring that a greater share of the revenues received from sale of government power be returned to the treasury. Third, by requiring that the projects pay into the treasury interest money on the invested capital.

All these matters have long been the subjects of a major power fight in and out of congress, and before house appropriation committees wanting to curb federal spending.

As soon as the Rockwell bill was introduced, Rep. William Lemke, North Dakota Republican, put in a bill to do just the opposite, liberalizing the conditions of public power financing.

Both bills went before the house committee on public lands, whose chairman is Richard J. Welch of California. This committee has 11 easterners, 17 westerners. After two months' hearings, they worked out a compromise. It was about 80 per cent Lemke bill and 20 per cent Rockwell bill. It increased to 78 years the period in which a project might pay out. It cut the interest rate. These provisions were acceptable to bureau of reclamation.

No action was taken on the bill last year. But when congress came back this year, it got priority. Late in January, the bill was reported to the floor of the house for three days debate. On the first two days advocates of the bill were able to mow down all amendments. But attendance was less than 100. Most of them were westerners and public power advocates. On the last day, however, the eastern Republicans moved in strong and fixed this thing the way they wanted it.

A California Democrat, Alfred J. Elliott of Tulare, who is a ranch operator and admits to being so fed up with Washington bureaucracy that he will not run for reelection, offered an amendment calling for changing the period of amortization on government power projects from 78 to 50 years. The effect is that projects will hereafter have to pay out in this shorter period of time. They will therefore have to charge more for their power. Some projects may even be found uneconomic to build or operate on this basis.

The Elliott amendment carried by a vote of 210 to 152. Republicans from east of the Mississippi voted for the amendment 140 to 20. Republicans from west of the Mississippi voted against the amendment 27 to 18. Democrats voted against the amendment 105 to 43. It was the overwhelming force of the eastern Republicans, following the anti-public power line, that did the trick.

The reasons for believing this bill will die in the senate are good. In this first place, the senate public lands committee is made up entirely of westerners, eight Republicans and five Democrats. They all know which side of their bread has government gravy on it.

Parties Merged

BUCHAREST, Feb. 24 (AP) — The Socialist and Communist parties of Romania have merged and adopted the name of Romanian Workers' party.

Ten former Socialists were given places on the new party's central committee of 41 members. Three of the 16 deputy members of the committee were chosen from Socialist ranks.

Robins Brags Idaho Scenic Spots in Talk

SPOKANE, Wash., Feb. 24 (U.P.)—Gov. C. A. Robins today took the Spokane Chamber of Commerce on a word tour of Idaho's scenic wonders.

He said the Gem state was contributing its share of scenery and promotion to help attract tourists who spend $2,000,000,000 in the Pacific northwest annually.

The governor made his remarks in an address before the Spokane Chamber of Commerce at a noon luncheon.

Travel Business Booms

Robins said the nation's travel business this year should amount to from 10 to 15 billion dollars and that the job of the northwest was to get people to travel there.

"Travel is more than pleasure-bent millions on a vacation," said the governor. "Travel is a builder of business, industry, health."

He said the program of the Idaho board of publicity, headed by Tom Cunning and associates at Boise, has become a lusty, sprawling infant after a little more than six months of operation.

Inquiries Increasing

He said the board is handling an increasing number of inquiries about Idaho and that most of them come from the eastern states. He said photographs and publicity releases are being mailed out by the thousands.

The governor told his audience of Idaho's fishing and big game resources, of its new phosphate fertilizer industry and described such natural wonders as Hell's canyon, Thousand springs, the city of rocks and others.

Former Resident Of Hailey Quits

SALT LAKE CITY, Feb. 24 (AP)—Harold A. Covey, Salt Lake City, announced today he will resign March 1 as vice-president in charge of traffic for Challenger Airlines company.

Covey is a partner in Covey Gas and Oil company and Covey Investment company, which have large property holdings in Idaho and Utah.

Challenger operates in Utah, Wyoming, Montana and Colorado.

Farm Committee Sets S. L. Probe

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24 (AP)—The house agriculture committee members will be in Salt Lake City, Utah, Tuesday, March 23, for a one-day hearing on the long-range farm program.

Rep. Granger, D. Utah., a committee member, told a reporter he had asked the state agriculture department to arrange a meeting place.

He said the group is due at Salt Lake City at 8:30 a. m. that day.

The congressmen will leave at 11 p. m. Tuesday night for Spokane, Wash. They are traveling by train.

Button, Button, He Has Them

Harry Bird, Seattle, Wash., displays his 400,000-button collection, which he claims is the west's largest. He has buttons from Mrs. Harry Truman, the late Mrs. Herbert Hoover, and even stripper Gypsy Rose Lee managed to uncover one for him. Included also are buttons from 44 governors and ex-governors.

Baldness Said Sign Of 'Virility' in Men

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 24 (AP)—Take heart, you baldies—what you lack in hair you may make up vigor.

Dr. Roy G. Hoskins, Harvard medical school neuro-endocrinist, said that baldness often is an indication of virility.

"We have found out that people who are not virile seldom become bald," he told the association for the study of internal secretions.

"Aristotle first pointed this out many centuries ago, and we have learned that he was right."

He added, however, that this is only the general rule and "exceptions are numerous."

Accord Reached

BRUSSELS, Feb. 24 (AP)—A financial agreement between France and Belgium was reached here, it was officially announced.

The agreement provides for the payment by France to Belgium of a 1,200,000,000 Belgian franc ($27,500,000) debt payable in gold according to the France-Belgium trade agreement of July, 1947.

Jerome Resident Gets Public Aid Note From Boise

JEROME, Feb. 24—Recipients of public assistance are not required to relinquish property, regardless of value, to continue to qualify for compensation, according to a letter received from Gov. C. A. Robins by George Ogden, Jerome.

The letter says no claim may be filed against the estate of a person receiving old age assistance if the spouse is still occupying property after the assistant dies. When there are no survivors, the state will seek to recover from the estate the amount paid in assistance.

The reason for this provision, enacted in 1937, the latter states, is that the amount of assistance depends upon the applicant's income and the resources he has available to him.

A dwelling, regardless of value, which does not provide any revenue, is not considered income and does not disqualify an applicant for assistance.

HOLLISTER VISITORS

HOLLISTER, Feb. 24—Mr. and Mrs. Pharo Arnoldsen, Centerfield, Utah, Harold Arnoldsen and Hans J. Anderson, Manti, Utah, and Mrs. Alice Frandsen, Salt Lake City, Utah, arrived Saturday to visit Mrs. John H. Wilson.

Justice Budge Reaches 80th Date of Birth

BOISE, Feb. 24 (AP)—Justice Alfred Budge, celebrating his 80th birthday anniversary today, expressed sadness and happiness regarding his expected retirement from the bench at the end of the year.

Justice Budge has been on the supreme court of Idaho for nearly 33 years and for 12 years prior to his appointment to the high tribunal by Gov. John Haynes Nov. 28, 1914, he had been district judge at Pocatello.

Happy to Retire

"I am happy to retire because I realize if we are going to keep a breath of life in our judiciary, younger men must take the place of older men," he said. "However, I'm sorry to go, as I can't loaf. I don't know what I'll find to do."

Justice Budge said he didn't know of a jurist in the country who had been on the bench as long as he has.

He was spending his birthday today surrounded by law books in the same office he first occupied in the state capitol building.

Born in Utah

Justice Budge was born in Providence, Utah, Feb. 24, 1868. He was educated at Provo and Logan academies and awarded a degree in law in 1892 at the University of Michigan, where in 1919 he was given an honorary master of arts degree. Justice Budge was given an honorable doctor of laws degree by the University of Idaho.

He married Ella Hoge of Paris, Bear Lake county, Ida., in 1894 and became prosecuting attorney the same year.

His health is still excellent and he said today he expected to live to be older than his father. His father died at the age of 92.

Western Senator Raps Steel Hike

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24 (AP)—Calling the new steel price increase "indefensible," Senator O'Mahoney, D., Wyo., said he will offer a bill to tax the "excess profits" of industry generally.

The steel increases, O'Mahoney said, invite congress to declare the industry a public utility.

If the industry was declared a utility, the government would have power to fix its costs and rate of earnings.

His "excess profits" tax bill, the senator said, will be introduced later this week. It will be in the form of an amendment to a pending measure to reduce individual income taxes.

Russian Deputy Declares Soviet 'Aims at Peace'

MOSCOW, Feb. 24 (AP)—Deputy Prime Minister Nikolai A. Bulganin said last night the Soviet union stands for peace, while British-American "war mongers" are preparing for the third World war.

Bulganin, who is also defense minister, spoke at the Bolshoi theater to an audience which included Prime Minister Stalin, high officers of the Soviet army, and members of the government, Maj.-Gen. Robert Macon, U. S. military attache, and Man.-Gen. Robert Hilton, British attache, also were present. The occasion was the 30th anniversary of the founding of the Soviet army.

"The mainstay of the Soviet union's peace policy is the armed force of the U. S. S. R.," Bulganin said.

Contamination In Area Wells Declared High

Pollution of well water in Magic Valley is continuing at a high rate, with 26.4 per cent of all wells tested during 1947 showing dangerous concentrations of bacteria, officials at the south central district health unit in Twin Falls reported Saturday.

Contributing factors to well pollution, officials said, are the increasing population in the valley which has necessitated the remodeling of old sewer systems and the digging of more sewer wells.

No Filter

The thick layer of soil which covers the valley rests on several hundred feet of porous lava rocks. Under sand or limestone, lava does not act as a filter and harmful bacteria will remain in water through several miles of seepage, officials point out.

Thus, they stress, a person digging a well 900 feet deep is no better off than a person digging a 100-foot well if the well is a polluted area.

Chlorinators for single wells have been perfected and have proved to be an economical solution to the problem, health officials said. Advice on the installation of these water purifiers is offered by the health department as a public service.

Consultation Urged

Persons intending to install wells on their property or who have reason to believe that their wells are contaminated should seek the consultation of the health unit, officials add.

Water tests are made by the department upon request and areas where water pollution has been found in the past are charted for the information of persons desiring to sink new wells.

Judge Stands Firm in War Trial Charge

WESTOVER AIR FORCE BASE, Mass., Feb. 24 (AP)—Judge Charles F. Wennerstrum today stood pat on his criticism of the German war crimes trials as failing to "attain objectivity aloof from vindictiveness" and offered to match his loyalty to the United States against that of an army general who accused him of "subversive" talk.

Wennerstrum, a justice of the Iowa supreme court, arrived here by plane from Nuremberg, where he presided at the trial of 10 German commanders for war crimes, including the killing of hostages.

Charge Recounted

Brig.-Gen. Telford Taylor, chief American prosecutor in Germany, had charged the interview given by Wennerstrum just before leaving was "subversive of the interest and policies of the United States."

Taking issue with Taylor's assertion this interview — given a Chicago Tribune reporter — would be "used by all the worst elements in Germany against the trial," Wennerstrum said he felt instead it "might be helpful in bringing the Germans to think as people do in a democracy."

2 Others Return

Two justices who sat with Wennerstrum in Nuernberg accompanied him home—Edward F. Carter of the Nebraska supreme court and George J. Burke, general counsel for the University of Michigan.

They told newsmen they felt the opinion in the trial had been "well thought out" and the cases "tried fairly."

They sidestepped the Wennerstrum-Taylor clash.

8 Given Sentences

The three-man tribunal sentenced Field Marshall Wilhelm List and seven other German commanders to terms ranging up to life imprisonment. Two generals were acquitted.

Wennerstrum said that he felt the German people should be given more information about the trials and that German defendants should be given a right to appeal to the United Nations.

The Iowa judge declared that he felt that the war crimes trials should be completed "in spite of shortcomings."

Polio Board Completes Tally for March of Dimes

The Twin Falls county march of dimes drive was officially ended Monday when Mrs. J. H. Sharp, right, county drive chairman, turned over a check for $24,183.53 to Mrs. F. F. Alworth, chairman of the county polio board. A total of $24,439.22 was collected in the drive under the direction of county Granges. Expenses for the drive were $241.69. A total of $12,894.47 will remain in Twin Falls county for treatment of local polio victims and $12,894.46 will be sent to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. Members of the board shown above are, left to right, Dorothy Collard, Mrs. Victor Geertsen, Frank Black, May Gaffey, Elizabeth Smith and Mrs. J. R. Neilsen. (Staff photo-engraving)

Job Openings For Engineer Posts Listed

Positions for mechanical, civil and chemical engineers are open in Arabian oil fields, A. J. Meeks, manager of the Idaho state employment service office in Twin Falls, reported Tuesday.

According to information received from the national clearing house of the U. S. employment service, Meeks said salaries for the positions range from $500 to $750 per month.

Transport Provided

The employer will furnish transportation to the job site and provide room and board, he continued. Applications may be made through the local ISES office.

Employment remains steady in the Magic Valley district, Meeks added, with 112 job openings, principally in domestic and stenographic work.

Plant Closes

The Amalgamated Sugar company in Burley completed seasonal operations Feb. 11 and laid off 160 men, mostly farmers who will not be seeking employment elsewhere.

More openings are expected shortly when farm work begins in Jerome and construction starts on the Snake river power dam below Gooding early in April, he concluded.

Traffic Fines

Drivers in Twin Falls have paid another $18 in fines for traffic violations.

Martin Cohen paid $3 for making an improper left turn while Alice Wilson paid $2 for overtime parking in the postoffice zone and G. E. Smith paid a similar amount for two tickets on overtime parking.

The others, each of whom paid $1 for overtime parking, are Ed Willis, J. H. Seaver, Mary Stiles, A. J. Pene, Mack Gray, Verden Sharp, E. H. Theurer, Henry Gardiz, C. K. Allen, E. K. Holler and Glen Andrews.

Czech Editor Sees Loss of Independence

MUNICH, Germany, Feb. 24 (AP)—Pavel Tigrid, Czechoslovak Catholic editor, told reporters today his country is finished as a free, democratic state.

Tigrid said he had left Czechoslovakia legally. Communist newspapers in Prague said he had fled and that a warrant had been issued for his arrest. He is editor of the Lidova Demokracie.

The editor, a bearded man of 30, said the communists decided to "get power by a putsch," fearing they would lose the May elections.

Two Alternatives

"President Eduard Benes has two alternatives," he said. "Either he resigns and Communist Premier Gottwald, who formed the 'action committee' with Trade Union Leader Zabotocky, takes over immediately, or he dissolves parliament and calls for new elections.

"These elections would have to take place within the next six weeks, but in the meantime, the country would be in the hands of an intermediate government formed by communists and leftist socialists only. This would obviously prevent the next elections from being free and democratic."

Predicts One Ticket

Tigrid predicted there would be only one election list. He said quite a few Czech politicians would try to escape to the American zone of Germany "if they have not been locked up."

"Right now," he said, looking at his watch, "there is a one hour strike (the demonstration called by the trades union congress) during which the workers will get armed. All military power will be in the hands of communists. What can my poor people do?"

His itinerary is Hailey, Hiawatha hotel, Feb. 24 and 25; Shoshone, McFall hotel, Feb. 26 and 27; Ketchum postoffice, March 1 and 2, and Sun Valley, Challenger Inn, March 3, 4 and 5. From March 8 through March 13 he will be at his office in the Jerome county courthouse.

Mother Ill

ACEQUIA, Feb. 24 — Mrs. Anna Smith, Kalispell, Mont., who has been visiting at the home of her niece, Mrs. Charles Collins, was taken ill last week and is a patient at the Rupert hospital. Her son, Charles Smith, and daughter, Mrs. Georgia McHenry, also of Kalispell, were called here by their mother's illness.

Chiang Mulls Plan to Stop China Crisis

NANKING, Feb. 24 (AP)—Chiang Kai-shek is meditating, in a mountain hideout, China's crisis—a crisis so acute his naval commander declared the U. S. fleet must stand by to protect northern ports.

A government official, asked to explain Chiang's long absence in one of the most crucial periods in China's history, replied today:

"The generalissimo thinks best when he is alone and undisturbed. Kuling (the summer capital) offers a perfect opportunity for such meditations."

Chiang and Madame Chiang flew to Kuling two weeks ago. He is conferring with some of his top military leaders. Reports indicate they are planning a new master strategy to defeat the Chinese communists, whose upsurge has engulfed all but the heart of Manchuria.

In Tsingtao, Adm. Kwei Yung-Ching, commander-in-chief of the Chinese navy, told interviewers:

"It is very important that the American navy remain in Chinese waters as long as we are unable to protect the coast." He noted that Tsingtao—headquarters of the U. S. western Pacific fleet—is strategically very important.

"This is particularly so at the present time because Dairen and Port Arthur (major Manchurian ports) are not yet in our control," he added. Both are occupied by Russia under a 1945 Chinese-Russian treaty. The treaty, Kwei commented, was "stupid, badly bungled."

Peiping dispatches from Manchuria said the reds had encircled Penki, coal mining center 35 miles southeast of Mukden, but said the government still held the town. Another report said fighting raged in the city's streets.

Kellogg Mine Firm Announces Dividend

KELLOGG, Feb. 24 (AP)—Directors of the Sidney Mining company yesterday declared the first 1948 dividend of $150,000, at the rate of 10 cents a share, payable March 31 to stock of record March 1.

The last dividend was paid Dec. 15. It amounted to $300,000 at the rate of 20 cents a share.

Dramatic Book Review Enjoyed by Department

Mrs. Morlon Cutler gave a dramatic portrayal from a review "When the Mountain Fell" by Ramuz at the meeting of the drama and literature department of the Twentieth Century club at the American Legion auxiliary room Monday afternoon.

"When the Mountain Fell" is the story of how a man, buried for two months by a landslide, survived by eating cheese, bread and water and finally succeeded in working his way out and returning to his home in the valley.

A short business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Val Toolson, chairman of the group. Mrs. H. C. Schurger, chairman of the nominating committee, announced names for voting.

Elected by unanimous ballot were Mrs. Max Crothers, chairman; Mrs. Robert Reece, vice chairman, and Mrs. Claude Milligan, secretary and treasurer.

The meeting closed with Mrs. Cutler and Mrs. Toolson pouring at a table decorated with daffodils and tulips with yellow side tapers.

Hostess chairman was Mrs. Fred Harder assisted by Mrs. Joe Koehler, Mrs. H. H. Stoker, Mrs. W. R. Wescott, Mrs. W. W. Noble and Mrs. J. W. Newman.

Mothers are wise!

The country over, Nucoa is the margarine most mothers choose. And now that it's plentiful, you can't please them with substitutes.

Mothers may not know that Nucoa margarine is new-churned the year round; on order only . . . that the makers of Nucoa refine their own nutritious vegetable oils . . . make their own milk culture . . . to insure Nucoa's uniformly fine flavor and texture.

But mothers recognize the results of this care.
They say, "Nucoa always tastes so sweet and fresh!"
They know that Nucoa pleases both family and guests at their table. They see their children thrive on Nucoa.
So more mothers choose Nucoa than any other margarine.
Nucoa's so good "it melts in your mouth!"

Serve Nucoa proudly on your table...

IT'S AMERICA'S MOST POPULAR MARGARINE

On the

SPORT FRONT

With

YOSS

(The Pudgy One)

YOSS was highly entertaining . . . You want to know why? . . . Because referees Ernie Cramer of SICE and Ralph Villers, the Gooding principal, gave some thought to the fans, who pay the freight, as well as the players on the floor . . . They let you know what was happening . . . They called the fouls quickly and emphatically . . . And, too, there was a minimum of whistle tooting.

This kid Frank Uriguen, who rolled in 34 points for Heyburn, shoots 'em from the hip, rolls 'em in off his arm and bangs 'em in with a throw like he was tossing the javelin . . . And his coach, Ted Hanks, says the lad isn't an exceptionally good shot. . . . "He just works harder than most kids," said handsome Ted.

You think you were at a Big Six game . . . What with Hank Powers doing the scoring and Ralph Edwards the timing . . . They both got a sweat up in the Castleford-Hailey game when the situation changed five times in just two seconds.

SICE's popular athletic director, Gene Cooper, was there with a notebook in his hand . . . Which means that you'll probably see quite a number of the players out there on the floor at Albion next fall.

YOSS made a great discovery . . . Much of Castleford's success this season must have been due to that big kid Jones . . . He really squeezes that ball as it comes off the backboard . . . He's what you see rarely now--a good backboard man.

This kid Jenkins was a busy little guy during the waning moments of the Hailey-Castleford game . . . He shot the tying and what could have been the winning basket and then committed a foul that gave Reynolds of Castleford a chance to sink the winning free throw.

Johnny Drips was generally acknowledged the best looking boy in Twin Falls high school when he was there . . . But you'd never know it from the picture of him as a member of Norfolk junior high school team in Nebraska . . . Johnny reputedly made eight points in an important game.

The business manager of the Richmond, Va., club in the Piedmont league long-distanced President Manny Doerr of the Cowboys the other night wanting to buy Jack Radtke . . . "He's not for sale even though he is now a free agent," Manny informed the Virginian. "He's our business manager and to let him get away would mean hanging at sunrise for me--by the fans."

And that wasn't all troubling the Cowboy prexy . . . The Pioneer schedule that was to be announced during this week was giving him visions of losing $50,000 this season . . . "It's just not a Twin Falls schedule," he remarked . . . They (the other directors of the league) even told us the schedule gave the Cowboys a raw deal and then went on and adopted it, 7 to 1.

AND THAT'S THAT FOR NOW, except: What's holding up the new clubhouse at the golf links?

Drive to Aid Federal Fish Hatchery Set

JEROME, Feb. 24—Directors of the Fourth District Associated Sportsmen's clubs voted here last night to aid the Shoshone Rod and Gun club in its campaign to assist the federal fish hatchery at Hagerman.

Request for the aid to the Shoshone club and others with deserving cases was made by board chairman, R. E. Adamson, Carey.

Notice of the action taken by the board and a request in support was sent to the 21 clubs in the district.

Chairman Adamson also named committee chairmen for the coming year at the meeting.

Named were W. V. Olds, Jerome, fish committee; Wayne Hudelson, Gooding, upland bird; Fulton Hartschin, Challis, north chairman for big game; Bert Parrish, south chairman for big game, and George Scholer, Twin Falls, legislative and resolutions committee.

Also named were two special committee chairmen, George Booth, Jerome, Pitman-Robertson fund, and Bob Russell, Hagerman, pollution committee.

In connection with program for aid to the federal hatchery the Jerome Rod and Gun club invited the entire fourth district to attend its fund raising party March 19.

Next meeting of the board of directors will be held in Salmon City, June 25, it was decided.

Idaho Beaten by Huskies, 51-33

MOSCOW, Feb. 24 (AP)—The Washington Huskies beat down lowly Idaho, 51 to 33, last night in a coast conference basketball game to move into a tie with Oregon State for second place in the northern division.

The Huskies led, 23 to 16, at halftime.

What started out to be a slow, even game turned into an easy runaway victory for Washington in the second half.

The Vandals came within two points of the Huskies in the first three minutes of the final period and trailed by only 29 to 26 with nine minutes remaining.

Then the Husky barrage began.

Washington scored 17 straight points while holding Idaho to a single field goal and Coach Art McLarney took his first team out of the game with the score reading, 46 to 28.

Williamson Will Return to Pilots

BOISE, Feb. 24 (AP)—Six veteran members of the Boise Pilot baseball club today signed contracts for the 1948 season.

Hadyn Walker, owner-president of the club, said Gordon Williamson, peppery little infielder who hit .294 with Boise two years ago, had signed his pact.

Members of last year's Boise club who inked contracts were William Franks, Springdale, Wash.; Jim Daniels, Hollywood, Calif., and James Ison, Hood River, Ore., all pitchers; infielder Louis Tamone, San Jose, Calif., and outfielder Neil Owens, Fairview, Ore.

Defends Title

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 24 (AP)—The second time since his near-fatal plane crash last year, Willie Pep will defend his world featherweight championship tonight.

The chunky little Hartford, Conn., fighter encounters Humberto Sierra, a rangy Cuban who was one of Willie's 14 victims in seven months of intensive scrapping.

Pep, who went through 62 consecutive fights before his only defeat as a professional, can improve slightly upon that mark by whipping Sierra. That string was marred by one draw against Jimmy McAllister. He will go to the post for the 72nd time since he lost to Sammy Angott in a non-title bout and this string has been an all-winning one.

Counting Deer

Counting of deer in the Minidoka national forest is under way today.

The count of one of the countries largest deer herds is under direction of P. J. McDermott of Jerome, game conservation supervisor for the fourth district.

He is being assisted by the U. S. forest service and various sportsmen's organizations.

PHOENIX BARRED

SPOKANE, Feb. 24 (AP)—Jack Phoenix, towering center for the University of Idaho basketball team until he became ineligible, will be barred from the Inland empire AAU tournament here Saturday and Sunday. The ex-Vandal star was barred on several counts, including failure to give the AAU here advance notice of intent to compete.

ASSAULT TO BE RETRIED

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 23 (AP)—Assault, the Texas thoroughbred that parlayed a club foot and a champion's heart into a $536,000 fortune, will be retired from racing immediately. The great chestnut handicap speedster which was voted the "horse of the year" in 1946 after winning the "triple crown" will be sent to Robert J. Kleberg's king ranch farm outside of Lexington, Ky.

Lowell Fields, Gooding, Wins Husky Race in Ashton Dog Derby

ASHTON, Feb. 24 (AP)—Lloyd Van Sickle, Ashton, mushed his team of seven crossbred hounds to a victory Monday in the 30th annual All-American dog trip.

Van Sickle's sturdy string pulled Van Sickle's light sled over the 10-mile course in the slow time of 48 minutes, 33 seconds. The track was soft from 10 inches of new snow, drifted deeper in some spots.

Austin Neeley, Teton basin, who had been regarded as a favorite, took second with a five-dog string of Targhee hounds. His time was 57 minutes, 25 seconds. David Clouse, 15-year-old son of A. R. Clouse, Dog Derby association president, was third in 61:30 and Ernest Harrigfeld, 16, Ashton, fourth with 61:22.

Lowell Fields, Gooding, won the Husky race over the same course in 68 minutes, 40 seconds, with a string of Siberian Huskies. Van Sickle, driving a team of Russian Samoyedes, finished just five seconds behind him and Lewis Price, Felt, finished third with a time of 80 minutes.

Price had opened the derby day celebration two hours earlier by leaping from an airplane with his Russian Samoyedes.

More than 5,500 persons jammed this little mountain village for the annual event presided over this year by Mrs. Alta Van Sickle, wife of the derby winner, who was crowned derby queen.

Mrs. Van Sickle was crowned by Mrs. Doris Heron, Los Angeles, who was brought to Ashton for the event as last week's winner of a "queen for a day" national radio program.

Everett Heseman, Ashton, winner the past five years, withdrew his entry last week when his lead dog developed a shoulder injury. Heseman had planned to run Afghan hounds this year.

Winning the championship was worth $1,000 to Van Sickle. Neeley, who had planned to race a seven-dog team and cut his string to five dogs after an outbreak of distemper in his kennels, pocketed $500 for second money and young Clouse won $300.

Prizes for the Husky event were $750, $500 and $250 respectively.

Among winners of the many preliminary events which followed a parade of contestants and equipment, were:

Bob-sledding race—Entry of Bob Egbert and Drex Davis, Ashton.

Cutter race—Jack Merrill, Rigby.

WOLVES NIP HAILEY IN TOURNEY THRILLER

Heyburn, Glenns Ferry And Paul Also Victors

KIMBERLY, Feb. 24 — Heyburn, Castleford, Glenns Ferry and Paul won the opening games in the annual class B high school basketball tournament here Monday before one of the largest opening day crowds in the history of the event.

Heyburn downed Wendell, 64-49; Castleford triumphed over Hailey, 33-34; Glenns Ferry won from Shoshone, 50-40, and Paul tripped Kimberly, 42-31.

* * * *

As a result Wendell opposed Hailey at 2 p. m. Tuesday, while Shoshone and Kimberly tangled at 3:30 p. m. in night games. Heyburn will take on Castleford at 7:30 and Glenns Ferry and Paul will do battle at 9.

Frank Uriguen, the Heyburn forward, was the big show in his team's victory over Wendell. He rang up 15 field goals and four free throws for a total of 34 points.

Wendell Takes Early Lead

Wendell jumped into an early lead and were in front, 8-3, at the end of the first quarter and when the half was reached the teams were tied, 20-20. However, in the third period Coach Ted Hanks' Mini-Cassia sub-district runner-up ran their advantage to 4-33. Wendell climbed closer early in the fourth period, but Heyburn put on a scoring attack near the close to win by a wide margin.

Heyburn rang up 27 field goals to 16 for Wendell, but Coach Keith Judd's King Hill runner-up sank 17 out of 27 free throws with seven each by Kearley and McBride.

Thriller of Day

Castleford and Hailey provided the thriller in the second afternoon game. The Wolves jumped into a 12-3 first quarter lead and had a 17-11 advantage at the half. They were still in front, 24-22, when fourth period was reached but went seven points to the good in the early part of the final frame. However, Hailey climbed closer and with but two minutes of the game remaining Jenkins, Hailey forward, tossed in a pair of field goals to give Coach Jack Bodell's Wood river champions a two-point lead.

One minute of the game remained. A Hailey player slowly bounced the ball down the floor and Wiggins, Castleford forward, rushed in, grabbed the ball and dribbled in for a set-up to tie the score. A fraction of a second remained when Jenkins fouled Reynolds and he sank the winning point.

The Wolverines, outscored the Wolves from the field, 14-12, but the Wolves made 11 free throws to Hailey's six.

Glenns Ferry, the King Hill champion, experienced little trouble defeating Shoshone, the North Side titleholder, after taking a 15-5 lead in the first quarter. The Pilots were in front, 29-17, at the half and 38-26 after three periods.

The Pilots won with only two free throws. However, they made 24 field goals with seven of them by Paul Shrum, their star center. Brown had five field goals and five free throws for 15 points for Shoshone.

Paul and Kimberly engaged in a furious battle for one-half. They were tied, 8-8, at the end of the first period and the Bulldogs were in front, 18-15, at the half. However, Paul took a 30-21 third quarter lead and increased its margin by one point in the final quarter.

Rens made seven field goals and Paul Shrum, 11 points for Paul, while J. Nelson had 11 for Kimberly.

MAY SUSPEND MANAGER

CHICAGO, Feb. 24 (AP) — The Illinois State Athletic commission has ordered Mike Spinelli, New York, to show cause on March 3 why he should not be suspended as a boxing manager in connection with the ring death of Sam Baroudi. The commission said that as Baroudi's manager, Spinelli failed to have 21 as the age of the 20-year-old Akron, O., Negro fighter, who died of cerebral hemorrhage early Saturday, six hours after a 10-round bout with Ernest Charles of Cincinnati. A fighter under 21 cannot participate in bouts of more than six rounds.

Tag Mat Match To Be at Filer

SALT LAKE CITY, Feb. 24—Plans have been completed for the Australian tag wrestling show to be staged at the Filer high school gymnasium.

In the tag match, which will be two out of three falls with a time limit of 90 minutes Ken Mayne, Salt Lake City, and Dave Reynolds, Columbus, O., will oppose Jack O'Reilly, champion of Australia, and Floyd Hansen, Salt Lake City.

Mayne and Hansen will meet in a 20-minute match as will Reynolds and O'Reilly.

Four Northwest Champs Erased Harris, O'Leary Lose After Taking Openers

(Special to the Times-News)

CHICAGO, Feb. 24 — Cut eyes, an injured thumb and an out-and-out technical knockout eliminated four of the eight Northwest champions, winners in the Golden Gloves tournament at Twin Falls, Ida., from the "Tournament of Champions" picture before 10,000 fans in the Chicago Stadium last night.

Whatever fistic glory that Twin Falls is to gain in the nationwide tournament is now left up to welterweight Jerry Pujlwarn, middleweight Dave Blatter, light heavyweight Eddie Taylor and heavyweight Dave Blatter when they make their debut here Tuesday night.

Bobby Harris, the Twin Falls flyweight champion from Great Falls, won his opening bout, gaining a clear cut victory over Bill Lankford, Lexington, Ky. Harris went to work from the start and never let up.

However, later in the evening Harris went out of the tournament when he suffered a cut eye in the second round and the referee awarded Russ McCarthy, Grand Rapids, Mich., a technical knockout.

Dave O'Leary, the Helena, Mont., featherweight, also won his first battle, hammering out a decision over rangler Phil Gebhart, Dayton, O. O'Leary blasted Gebhart with roundhouse punches from start to finish, consistently carrying the fight to the Ohio battler, whose side and chest soon were red from the Montana boy's attack. Gebhart was warned against low punching in the final round, while O'Leary gained his second wind. O'Leary wrestled Gebhart to the canvas in one of the rounds.

Later in the night, O'Leary suffered an injured thumb in the second round of his second bout and gave up.

Ned Boyle, the Butte bantamweight fighting under the Twin Falls banner, was stopped in the third round by Roger Fandel, Springfield, Ill. Boyle was wobbling and in distress when the referee stopped the uneven bout.

Paul Martin, the Twin Falls lightweight champion, who was making his fourth trip to the tournament, lasted only one round. Fighting John Cerky, Des Moines, Ia., Martin suffered a cut over his right eye and the referee stopped the contest. Martin was quickly outspeeded and outclassed and called the referee's attention to the cut.

Knockouts were a dime a dozen as the first of 304 amateur boxers battled through five hours in the 105 opening bouts.

The heavy-fisted youngsters from 500 villages, towns and cities in 31 states packed thrill upon thrill in the flyweight, bantam-weight, featherweight and lightweight classes.

WASHINGTON SCORES KAYO

In a preliminary, Buddy Washington, 130, Ogden, Utah, stopped Tony Martin, 127, Denver, in 1:30 in the second of a scheduled eight rounder.

Other results:

Johnny Candia, 128, Ogden, knocked out Hugh Boltwright, 126, Las Vegas, Nev., 1:17 of (1).

Kid Leon, 135, Ogden, outpointed Irish Dennis, 133, Salt Lake City, (4).

Al Romero, 150, Salt Lake City, knocked out Manuel Singh, 151, Salt Lake City, (4).

Sonny Kelly, 150, Portland, outpointed Gil Ramirez, 152, Mexico City, (6).

NEW YORK, Feb. 24 (AP)—Spots of strength remained in today's stock market but many leaders skidded or did nothing.

Dealings from the start were among the slowest of the past year. Volume dwindled to around 650,000 shares. Assorted gold mines, aircrafts and industrials were in mild favor. Quotations hardened here and there in the final half hour. While gains of fractions were well distributed at the close, minus signs for pivotals persisted.

Denver and Rio Grande Western common and preferred climbed at the last on the first payment on the junior issues since the reorganization last April. An omitted dividend chilled N. Y. City Omnibus.

Unsettled European currencies, highlighting the value of gold abroad, aided issues in the metal group. A few aircrafts benefited from hopes of bigger military orders.

Bonds were a shade uneven.

PTA Speaker Relates Need For Security

Mrs. Clara Anderson, in her talk for the Washington PTA study group Monday evening, stressed a feeling of security as the most important aspect of the parent-child relationship.

Preceding Mrs. Anderson's speech, a group of Washington school youngsters presented skits depicting typical circumstances arising between parents and their children. The situations portrayed included the examples of the dominating parent, the dominating child, inconsistent correction and punishment and the rejected child.

Tells Background

Mrs. Anderson said that the home and loving parents are the background for the secure feeling that is so necessary in the growth of wholesome children. She advised parents to "hit the middle road" and avoid extremes in their dealings with their youngsters.

Mrs. Charles Pullman, study group chairman, welcomed the large attendance to the meeting in the school auditorium. In a short talk, Mrs. Lionel Dean made a request for women to volunteer to serve as Camp Fire guardians.

Room Gets Prize

Sarah McCluskey's first grade room won the prize for having the most parents in attendance. Mrs. Max Lloyd, president of the Washington PTA, closed the meeting by reading a prayer for parents.

It was announced that the next meeting of the group will be March 31.

Lighting for Airport Hits Funds 'Snag'

(From Page One)

Harbert company had bid $20,113.55.

Grant was authorized to sign a contract with T. S. Flood, Boise, for the construction of the water system at the municipal airport.

Upon the motion of Councilman Truman T. Greenhalgh and the second of Councilman O. H. Coleman amended a previous resolution and established a two-cent a gallon service charge for gasoline at the airport. The original service charge was one cent.

The councilmen also set $2.50 as a monthly charge for ground storage at the airport, except when storage does not exceed 48 hours no charge shall be made.

The councilmen also authorized payment of $2,073.06 to the Shoshone Construction company for extra work done in connection with recently installed sewer systems.

Twin Falls will receive two 37 millimeter guns on carriages to replace guns donated by the city toward the war effort. The war department notified the council it will ship the guns free of charge upon request.

Councilman I. E. Nitschke said City Attorney Joseph H. Blandford is drawing up a revised amendment to cover a "maintenance refund" on the slot machines. It will be presented shortly, Nitschke said.

Blandford suggested the councilmen study means of severing from the city a 15-acre plot owned by a Mrs. Crawford on the outskirts of the city on Falls avenue.

A good portion of Mrs. Crawford's income is derived from the 15 cows she owns, said Blandford. As she is in violation of city regulations, she requests withdrawal of her property from the city, he added.

Times Announced By County Agent On Tours of Car

Twin Falls County Agent C. W. Daig Tuesday announced times allotted groups to view the specially equipped agricultural improvement car which will visit Twin Falls Thursday under the sponsorship of the Union Pacific railroad.

From 9 to 10:30 a. m. Twin Falls school children will view the information and exhibits, Daigh said. From 10:30 to noon has been allotted to school children from Filer and Kimberly; 1 to 2:30 p. m., children from Buhl, and 2:30 to 4 p. m., veteran classes.

The public is invited to visit the car after 4 p. m., he said.

Discussions on farming and stock raising problems are being conducted by Gene Whitman, extension agronomist of the University of Idaho.

2 Drivers Cited

California license plates that expired Jan. 31 resulted in citations to two drivers Tuesday when they were stopped by state police.

Cited to appear in justice court were Jack Borrensen, 251 Taylor street, and Ensley P. Jones, Billings, Mont.

Mysterious Night Explosions Merely Blasting at Gravel Pit

"Mysterious" explosions heard west of Twin Falls at 12:05 and 12:45 a.m. Tuesday were not so mystifying later Tuesday morning when a construction company official explained the explosions came from a gravel pit two miles west of the Jerome Country club.

M. S. Ingebritson, official of the Shoshone Construction company, explained that his company was reopening a gravel pit for the Jerome highway district.

Crews were blasting at night at the request of the Idaho Power company because the gravel pit lies near a main transmission line. In case the power line was damaged, a repair crew could have it back in operation before morning, Ingebritson said.

The power company had a crew standing by when the blasting occurred, but no damage was reported.

T. J. Goeckner and Marvin Hartley reported they heard the mysterious explosions early Tuesday morning. Goeckner heard the blast while at his farm three miles west and a quarter of a mile south of South Park. Hartley was at the KTFI transmitter four miles west of Twin Falls.

Goeckner reported the blasts disturbed his stock and his dogs started to bark. He compared the blasts to an earthquake.

Hartley said the explosions seemed to come from 10 to 15 miles away and sounded like the explosion of anti-aircraft shells. Hartley reported no earth tremors and neither man could see any flashes.

2 Injured, 3 Cars Damaged Near Hailey

HAILEY, Feb. 24—Three automobiles were wrecked partially and two persons hospitalized temporarily here late Saturday night in a freakish accident four miles north of Hailey on U. S. highway 93.

Injured were Kenneth E. Bell and Beverly Quain, Rupert, who were dismissed from the Hailey clinical hospital Sunday morning.

At 11 p. m. Saturday an auto operated by Mary Lou Nission skidded on the icy road and overturned in a barrow pit on the left side of the road.

Being unhurt, she climbed from the overturned car and hitchhiked to Hailey for assistance, State Police Officer Wayne Lundberg reported.

While she was gone, Mr. and Mrs. Nash Arambarrie, who were on their way to Ketchum, saw the overturned car and stopped to see if anyone was in it. They parked their car on the right side of the road.

Shortly after, Samuel Brackenbury, 15, Gannett, with a group of Bellevue high school basketball players, was returning to Bellevue from Ketchum and also saw the wrecked machine. He stopped on the left.

The machine driven by Bell rammed into the rear of the Brackenbury auto, knocking it into the barrow pit. The impact threw the Bell car out of control and across the highway. Miss Quain was riding in the machine with Bell. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Rowe, Rupert, also in the Bell vehicle, were uninjured, Lundberg stated.

Miss Quain and Bell received facial cuts and bruises.

Groups Agree To Push Plan For New Dam

HAILEY, Feb. 24—An agreement to cooperate on the proposed Boulder flats dam was reached at a joint meeting of the Upper Big Wood River Water Users association and the Wood River irrigation district here Monday.

The two groups agreed to cooperate and coordinate on the specifications of the proposed dam, which will be located 12 miles from Ketchum.

At the meeting Smith Farnlum, Ketchum, was elected to serve as chairman of the joint group, while John Browning, Gannett, will serve as vice chairman.

Appointed to investigate the availability of the proposed damsite was R. F. Mallon, Ketchum. Wayne Clark and George Merrick, both Bellevue, and William H. New, Halley, will investigate financing the proposed project.

Everett Taylor, Sun Valley, will investigate the feasibility of water storage and the amount of water that will be available to the area.

Eddie Scagle and Taylor attended the meeting as representatives of the Union Pacific railroad.

Next meeting of the organization is scheduled for March 8 in the Hailey courthouse.

Two Court Cases Reported Settled

Two cases scheduled for hearing next month in the civil term of district court have been settled out of court, it was announced Tuesday.

The cases are those of Margaret Turnbaugh and Nellie Carter against Parisian, Inc. They result from an accident Feb. 21, 1947, in which the two women allegedly were struck by a laundry truck.

The two women are represented by Rayborn and Rayborn and Harry Povey while the company is represented by Parry, Keenan, Robertson and Daley.

Cow Hurts Burley Ex-Police Chief

BURLEY, Feb. 24—C. M. Johnson, former chief of police here, was injured seriously last week when he was knocked down by a cow at the Portland feeder yards here.

Johnson suffered extreme shock and internal injuries, but his condition now is reported to be improved slightly. No one witnessed the accident which happened when Johnson entered a pen where a sick cow was kept. The animal became enraged and charged him, knocking him down and trampling him.

The first subway transport system in the United States began operation in Boston in 1897.

Driver Cited in Traffic Charge

Mark R. Clay, route 2, Twin Falls, was cited to appear before Justice of the Peace James O. Pumphrey Tuesday on charges of failing to yield the right-of-way.

He was cited by a state police officer after being involved in a traffic accident one mile east of Twin Falls on U. S. highway 30 at 4 p. m. Monday.

Clay was specifically charged with failing to yield the right-of-way to Harold J. Brown, Filer. The officer reported that Clay had stopped at a stop sign before coming onto the highway but had run in front of the other car, which was unable to stop.

Minor damage resulted.

Condition of Judge Lee Not Improved

BURLEY, Feb. 24—The condition of District Judge T. Bailey Lee, who fell and broke his right hip last Thursday morning, has shown no improvement since he was taken to Boise for treatment.

Doctors there have decided against setting the bone until his strength has been built up more. His wife and his daughter, Mrs. Eleanor Bellwood, Rupert, are with him.
